ROME, July 19.—American troops captured the great Tyrrhenian port of Livorno today, crumpling the western anchor of the German defences across Italy in the biggest Allied victory of the Italian campaign since the fall of Rome.

Livorno fell to the United States units of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army soon after Allied headquarters announced that Polish forces had captured Ancona, the Adriatic anchor of the Nazi defence line.

The twin victories at either end of the Italian line unhinged the hard-pressed German defences and cleared the way for a frontal onslaught against the gothic line, before which the Nazis were struggling to make their first stand after a precipitate flight from Rome.

PORT DESTROYED

Virtually all the port facilities of Livorno, pre-war city of 200,000, had been destroyed by the Germans to prevent their use by the Allies as a gateway of supplies and reinforcements.

The city's many big bridges, the

McGeer Says:

Money Reform Vs. Socialism Canada's Issue

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—The Commons Banking Committee today discussed an amendment to the bank bill moved by G. G. McGeer (L., Vancouver-Burrard) which would make it unlawful for any chartered bank to create and issue bank deposit credit as a substitute for lawful currency and credit of Canada, unless authority was given by a board composed of the governor of the Bank of Canada, the minister of finance and the prime minister.

Mr. McGeer, long an advocate of money reform, said the issue in Canada today was money reform versus socialism. He said he believed that money reform would permit full employment, cultural activities for Canadians in their leisure hours, better educational services and social security without the loss of freedom involved in socialism.

Mr. McGeer said the right to issue the medium of exchange must be firmly in the hands of the government.

A banker who was a custodian for a depositor could not afford to run the necessary risks in serving an expanding economy.

Say Warm Weather To Continue Here
With an estimated high temperature of 84 degrees on Thursday citizens generally agreed on Wednesday that summer really has arrived.

The forecast is for "fair and warm."

The estimated low for tonight is 55 degrees. At 2 p.m. today it was 77 degrees.

Weather experts said there were no indications of the warm spell terminating.

Transport Crashes
VANCOUVER, July 19.—(CP)—Western Air Command announced yesterday that an R.C.A.F. transport aircraft crashed at a west coast station yesterday morning. No further details are available.

Social Credit Candidate Beaten, Carried Bodily From C.C.F. Meet
LETHBRIDGE, July 19.—(CP)—J. C. Landeryou, Social Credit nominee for Lethbridge in the Aug. 8 Alberta general election, was carried bodily from a C.C.F. public meeting last night after he had refused to apologize to M. J. Coldwell, national C.C.F. leader, for a remark he made during the meeting.

The incident occurred when Mr. Coldwell, main speaker of the meeting, said that Norman Jaques, Social Credit member for Wetaskiwin in the House of Commons, declared in the House recently that the finance of Canada was controlled by Jews.

"If you are saying that the Social Credit Party is against Jews or attacking them, you are a liar," Mr. Landeryou, a member of the audience, rose and declared.

Mr. Coldwell gave the speaker five seconds to apologize or be removed from the hall, and Mr. Landeryou sat down and did not reply.

When the time had elapsed four ushers pounced upon Mr. Landeryou, punching him and drawing blood from his ear and neck, then carried him bodily outside.

Only "Book Entries"

M.P. Asks Chartered Bank Loans to Government Stop To Curtail Mounting Debt

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Claiming the chartered banks "pretended" to loan the Dominion government money, while actually such borrowing was represented merely by "pen and ink entries in books," Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., Liberal member of parliament for Parry Sound, Ontario, Tuesday moved an amendment to the Bank Bill which would stop chartered banks loaning to the Dominion government and leave this business to The Bank of Canada.

A second amendment by Mr. Slaght, considered by the Commons Banking Committee Tuesday afternoon, asks that the banks be required to have 100 per cent reserves against demand deposit liabilities. The committee is discussing the bill to extend bank charters for 10 years.

Speaking to his amendment, Mr. Slaght said that he wanted to stop "the bleeding of the taxpayer" due to the rising government debt to the banks.

There must be an end to pyramiding of debt or there would be the disaster of repudiation, Mr. Slaght warned. He charged, together with G. G. McGeer, K.C., Liberal member of parliament for Vancouver Burrard, that the chartered banks were now able to obtain such profitable business with the government that they were losing their incentive to loan to individual borrowers.

King Says:

Time For Politics After War Is Won

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Prime Minister MacKenzie King said here today there would be time "for political affairs when the war is won" in commenting on a report he would switch ridings in the next election from Prince Albert, Sask., to an Ontario seat.

His brief statement said: "I have been devoting all my attention to the war. There will be time for political affairs when the war is won."

A Toronto report last night said the prime minister was considering running in some Ontario riding such as Ottawa East, Renfrew North or Gray North.

Charges "Gestapo" Tactics to CCF

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Rev. F. G. Hansell, acting house leader of the Social Credit party, said in a prepared statement today that ejection of J. C. Landeryou, Social Credit nominee for Lethbridge in the Aug. 8 Alberta election from a CCF meeting at Lethbridge last night was the use of "gestapo" tactics.

"It is to be deplored that when a former member of parliament arises to defend one of his colleagues or his convictions that the CCF storm troopers should be called to beat down any opposition," Mr. Hansell said.

"The CCF in this instance are running true to form in using the tactics of the Gestapo," Mr. Hansell's statement continued.

"We believe that any public speaker in a political campaign has a right to an orderly meeting, but it is evident that Mr. Coldwell is losing in the fight and is beginning to hit low. These men talk of free speech but it is quite evident that they are starting to carry out the provisions of the C.C.F. (Macinnis) bill which would make it a criminal offence to criticize any race or religion."

LONDON, July 19.—Premier Josef Stalin announced tonight that a new Red army offensive along the northern frontier of Latvia had knocked a 43-mile gap in the German defence line through which Russian forces advanced up to 25 miles and captured more than 700 localities.

Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's army of the third Baltic front launched the new offensive south of Ostrov which carried the Ostrovskaya river and overran the key German bases fronting the Latvian border.

The army was the eighth to strike in the Russian offensive smashing the Germans westward on a front of more than 500 miles stretching from below Lake Peipus to the lower reaches of old Poland in the Lwow area.

Among the captured towns were Krasnogorodskoye, 18 miles northwest of Ostrov, and 31 miles south of Ostrov, Shalino, and Zolotov.

LONDON, July 19.—American heavy bombers attacked Munich, birthplace of the Nazi party, from both Britain and Italy today to spearhead a massive bombardment by nearly 2,000 Flying Fortresses and Liberators of war plants, airdromes and rail yards throughout south Germany.

More than 1,200 heavies of the Eighth Air Force smashed broadside at eight targets in Germany and a ninth in France. One formation struck at a chemical plant, supplying Nazi flying bombs, on the outskirts of Munich, scoring a tactical junction over the city with 15th Air Force raiders from Italy, which blasted objectives around it.

The 500 to 750 bombers from Italy hit aircraft factories, an air-drome and an ordnance depot at Munich. Early reports from Rome indicated that all the targets were well plastered by the Fortresses and Liberators in action for the second straight day against south Germany.

Mustang and Lightning fighters accompanied the bombers sweeping up over the Alps. Only a few German planes challenged them, in Continued on Page 2, Col. 2

C.C.F. Will Copy Alta. School Plan
SASKATOON, July 19.—(CP)—Education Minister Woodrow Lloyd said here last night he hoped for the establishment of a fund which would be used by the Saskatchewan government "to guarantee an adequate minimum standard of education for every district in the province."

Addressing summer school students at the University of Saskatchewan, Mr. Lloyd said the onus for maintaining a minimum standard of education should be removed from local school districts. "Education must be a collective responsibility."

Mr. Lloyd said the larger units would help the equalization of educational costs for it would be better to deal with a small number of large districts than with 5,000 small districts.

The large school unit plan was conceived in 1941 by the late Premier William Aberhart of Alberta, who was also minister of education, and earned for this province recognition as leader for the entire Dominion in progressive educational legislation.

Redgrove of Calgary, was fatally injured Monday, 14 miles east of Beiseker. She died from a fractured skull en route to hospital in Calgary. She had been riding with a cousin, who had dismounted prior to the mishap.

Jaques Challenges Coldwell Charge
OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Norman Jaques (SC—Wetaskiwin) in the House of Commons today challenged M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, to show where he ever said Canadian finance was controlled by Jews.

On a question of privilege Mr. Jaques referred to a report of Mr. Coldwell's speech at Lethbridge, Alta., last night in which he said Mr. Jaques made such a statement. Mr. Jaques said he had nothing to retract from any speech made in the house or on the public platform.

"What I have said," he added, "is that international finance is under Jewish control. I will go further and say it is evident the C.C.F. intend to make that control national and is using the strong arm of their gestapo to enforce it."

Airman Evades Huns in Italy For 8 Months

troops searching for escaped prisoners kept him in constant fear of recapture and he said, "I was within a drop of a hat of it several times."

Shot down Nov. 8, 1942, during the Allied drive on El Alamein he was taken to a prison camp in Italy. On the night of Sept. 12 last year, along with a group of other Canadian and British officers, he made his escape.

Shortly after the break he became separated from the main party, and made the rest of his escape in the company of a R.A.F. chap.

SHELTERED BY PEASANTS

Sheltered by peasant shepherds of the Italian underground the men gradually worked their way through the mountainous area in an effort to reach the Adriatic.

"The underground provided us with guides to take us over the almost impassable heights," he said, "and we had to exercise the utmost care as the Germans were on to every trick and their reprisals against families whom they knew had helped us were horrible and savage."

"One day when the Germans came to a house where I was staying I hid into a hole under a manure pile in the barn and they stood right over my head talking. Once for three months we didn't dare put our noses outside the door because of the proximity of enemy patrols."

While attempting to get over an 8,000 foot pass into the next valley on their way to the Adriatic, P.O. Markle was stricken with snow blindness and had to lie low until he was fit for travel again.

Extreme shortages of food was threatening their Italian benefactors with starvation and the men decided it was unfair to submit them any longer to the possibility of discovery by the Germans, for they knew the horror of the punishment the Nazis were imposing on underground workers, and so they decided they must make a final effort to reach territory held by the Allies.

MEET OTHERS

Traveling through the mountains in the spring they met a small band of other escaped prisoners, including Yugoslavians, and this was the party which contacted the Hindu troops.

All these months the flier's family had no word of him.

"When the Hindu troops came up to us we realized we were in danger of being shot as Germans masquerading as refugees," he said, "but after a lot of fast talking to the officer, who spoke English, I convinced him we really were British and everything was okay. From then on we travelled in luxury like kings."

"I asked the officer if it didn't surprise him to see us coming in without arms of any kind or food and he said not, and that we'd been under observation for six hours. Lucky for us they weren't German troops."

The returned airman was high in his praise of the work of the Red Cross. "The parcels we received from the Red Cross were our salvation in the prison camp," he said.

Flying with 450th R.A.F. squadron on Kittyhawk fighters, the pilot had previously been shot down in North Africa and suffered wounds. He made a crash landing and was picked up a couple of hours later by a R.A.F. patrol plane. After several months in hospital near Suez he returned to the squadron and took part in the campaign up to El Alamein when he was taken prisoner.

He is a grandson of Mrs. Alex Gilmour, 10023 106 street.

BORN HERE

Born in Edmonton he was educated at Camrose but spent a great deal of time in this city. He enlisted in February, 1940, and received his wings at Yorkton, Sask., the next summer, proceeding overseas in the autumn of 1941. Early in 1942 he went out to the Middle East.

A happy sequel to his escape and thrilling adventures is his month's furlough at home to be followed by a posting somewhere in Canada.

contrast with nearly 300 which attacked the raiders yesterday.

Lancaster heavy bombers of the Royal Air Force joined in the daylight assault on the continent with an attack on German flying bomb bases in northern France.

Eighteen bombers and seven fighters were missing from all of today's operations by American planes, a communiqué reported.

CLOUDS OVER FRANCE

Tactical air force operations were hamstrung this afternoon by a heavy cloud cover over Normandy, but Havoc A20 bombers led by a Marauder Pathfinder crossed the battle lines to attack two rail bridges feeding the Germans in the front positions.

The great armada of Flying Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by some 750 fighters, smashed at the German war potential in an area bounded by Munich, Schweinfurt, Koblenz and Saarbrücken, and hit the French border town of Strasbourg.

Swinging away from the Normandy battlefield after taking part in the biggest concentrated bombardment of all time, the Eighth Air Force carried the war back to only contact with the mainland, also were wrecked by the Nazis in an extreme application of the scorched-earth policy.

Livorno fell to American forces which had swung around it in a wide flanking manoeuvre and the Reich in one of its most widespread attacks on the Nazi homeland.

NIGHT ATTACKS

The daylight attack in force followed one of comparable scope by the Royal Air Force and Canadian planes, who sent night raiders against the continent for assaults all the way from Berlin to the Normandy battle zone.

A communiqué announcing the Eighth Air Force bombardment, carried out in generally clear weather that enabled the bombers to pinpoint their targets, listed the following objectives:

MANY OBJECTIVES

A Messerschmitt 109 components plant at Kempen, southwest of Augsburg and about 35 miles northeast of the Swiss border.

A chemical factory at Hohlreisch, on the outskirts of Munich which makes oxygen and hydrogen.

Ball bearing plants at Schweinfurt.

Rail yards at Koblenz and Saarbrücken, as well as Strasbourg.

German air force stations at Lechfeld, Leipzig and Laupheim, all in the region of Augsburg.

Strong forces of Mustangs, Thunderbolts and Lightning fighters, also of the Eighth Air Force, escorted the Fortresses and Liberators.

VICTORIA, July 19.—(CP)—A dozen Doukhobors sentenced to penitentiary for disturbing demonstrations and later freed on appeal in Vancouver, are to be rearrested, appeal court here ruled yesterday.

Govt. to Carry On War Against Financial Ring

mier Manning, spoke at Paradise Valley earlier in the day returning to Marwayne for an overflow public meeting and the nominations at night, three hundred persons packed the hall and applauded eagerly as Mr. Berg and Premier Manning gave a report on the government's accomplishments. A public address system was set up to take care of the large overflow audience outside the hall.

"We in Alberta are the only province that has let down the bars and taken up the challenge of high finance," declared Mr. Berg. He warned, however, that the cause of the people might yet be lost unless a greater proportion of the electorate used their democratic franchise at the polls.

"In this election we are making a decision where principles are at stake so that if there is any time when you should know the issues involved it is now," said Mr. Manning. "My only interest is in the application of principles which can be used to save the people from high finance."

"Today all should seek to outgrow all petty bickering and all party politics, and work on behalf of the common people. We are determined that the fight against financial monopoly shall go on until people are free from its control so that living standards are limited only by what the natural resources of the province itself can produce," declared the premier.

TAKES ISSUE

Taking issue with schemes for public development of natural resources as advocated by the CCF, which he said would result in state monopolies just as corrupt as private monopolies. Mr. Manning said the question before the people today is whether they would support the government's fight or sell out their birthright for a mess of socialist pottage.

In health services, public works and education Alberta has gained throughout Canada the name of being the outstanding province for honest, efficient, courteous administration by its public servants, he said. All parties in Saskatchewan in the recent election there promised to elect a government that would give the people an education like Alberta's. Yet they now come over into Alberta and criticize the government that did this.

Alberta, he said, is the only province in Canada now giving free medical care in maternity cases.

NOT ALL PROFIT

Premier Manning defended what is called private enterprise in the development of the province's oil resources. It is not all profit for the oil companies he said and public ownership could not have undertaken the same work without saddling the province with an $18,000,000 debt and using the taxpayers' money for development.

Under the system of private enterprise at present, private individuals and companies may make profits, but they also take risks. The province retains ownership of the land on which oil wells are situated and without taking risk receive one barrel out of every eight produced in royalties.

The matter of economic reform is not one of production but of distribution and the August election is not just a question of voting for honest efficient government, but a vote for the spearhead of defence against financial monopoly, the premier declared. When the Turgeon commission recently held its hearings the Alberta government was the only body submitting plans showing how to finance post-war plans, Mr. Manning concluded.

No damage was done in a small blaze which broke out in a pile of sawdust piled against the ice house of the Gainer Packing Plant about 1 p.m. Wednesday. The fire was believed to have started from a cigarette butt or spark. Halls 2 and 6 responded.

which may reduce air support for the British and Canadians beyond Caen.

Ronald Clark, British United Press war correspondent at the British front, estimated that British and American planes had dropped a record 14,000 tons of block-busters, smaller explosives and anti-personnel bombs on German strong points and other targets around Caen during daylight yesterday.

More than 2,200 bombers dropped over half the total tonnage in three hours, 6 to 9 a.m.—yesterday, pulverizing enemy strong points, a 75-mile-square area on a semi-circle around Caen in preparation for the tanks and infantry breakthrough.

"EL ALAMEIN" BARRAGE

Hundreds of ground guns simultaneously laid down a barrage reminiscent of that which cracked the German line at El Alamein, while the British monitor Roberts and cruisers Mauritius and Enterprise joined in the bombardment with broadside after broadside from the Orne estuary.

While the Germans still were paralyzed from the hail of steel and explosives, British and Canadian tanks and infantry went "over the top." Some struck out from the bridgehead on the east bank of the Orne east of Caen, while others crossed the Orne river southward into Faubourg de Vaucelles over three bridges recently constructed only a few hours before.

Some units went in singing. Others were shouting or grimly silent as they plodded ahead with fixed bayonets. The wall of bagpipes, also heard at El Alamein, occasionally was audible over the din of crashing shells and bombs.

German broadcasts said the 51st Highland division—the Highlander "Lads from Hell"—were participating closed in from the east while other units were smashing through the formidable German fortifications guarding its southern approaches.

POLES MAUL NAZIS

Ancona fell yesterday afternoon to Polish units of the Eighth army as the culmination of their 75-mile advance in the last few weeks. The Germans had concentrated two divisions to defend the anchor base with a peace-time population of 95,000. The Poles badly mauled the divisions and took more than 2,000 prisoners.

The whole eastern wing of the German defences crumpled. Other elements of the Eighth army took Offagna, eight miles south-west of Ancona, after a tough fight lasting several days. Other arm, 3 1/2 miles from the coast; towns which fell included Camerino, D'Ancona, six miles southwest of the namesake town; and Agugliano, south of Paterno.

The Poles stormed through Ancona after a break-through to the west, and their infantry supported by armor are still relentlessly pursuing the retreating enemy."

In central Italy, British troops of the Eighth army crossed the upper Arno on a front of six miles. Other forces established themselves upon Hill 974, four miles due east of Arezzo.

a publicly-owned utility. In the post-war period government financing would be needed. The spectre of unemployment must never be allowed to march across the Dominion and Canada must be prepared to finance employment to the limit. There was the prospect that most Canadian industries now suggested for six months could create domestic surpluses.

But uses must be found for the production power developed during the war, said Mr. McGee. Private industry could do something, but it would be difficult to get the private savings in government bonds into industry. There was no right to conclude that money would be turned into private enterprise. The threat of socialism, fear of disturbed conditions and taxation all were factors discouraging the transfer.

NEED EXPORT TRADE

The bulk of Canadian exports in the first 10 years after the war probably would depend on a lease-lend program being carried on, said Mr. McGee. Canada would have to show her ability to organize as a producing nation, making things other nations needed. International trade should be a basis of co-operation, of mutual aid rather than an inept cause of war.

The federal government must take the responsibility of financing social services of Canada and they must be broader than any program suggested to parliament. Children's allowances and adequate old age pensions were cornerstones of such a program.

Mr. McGee said there should be provision for the aged to live in comfort without being a factor in the labor market.

Schools should be developed as centres for parents as well as children, and in a city such as Vancouver the cost of each such unit would be about $500,000.

Nearly Eight Tons Of Overseas Mail Arrives in Canada

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—The R.C.A.F. announced yesterday the recent arrival here of nearly eight tons of mail—approximately 750,000 letters—from Canadian fighting men overseas and said it plans to extend its Mediterranean post service to Rome and other frontline points. The announcement said the reason for the big load was that a large quantity of mail had been held up by the British censors pending completion of D-Day landing operations in France.

In addition, 13,000 civilian residents of Saipan, mostly Japanese, have been interned.

M.P. Demands Loans to Govt. By Banks End

government they would be more interested in loaning to the public. Service charges were levied by the banks now, and these charges bore most heavily on the poorer people, as the larger concerns made greater use of bank services.

Dr. W. C. Clark, deputy minister of finance, said that if Mr. Slaght's proposal to prevent the banks loaning money to the government was carried through they would lose income from interest on Dominion securities of about $35,000,000 a year. Their total earnings in a year, before allocation for contingencies, dividends and the like, had been $31,600,000, so the amendment would result in total earnings being eliminated and a deficit created.

Mr. McGeer said Dr. Clark's figures indicated that the banks had "sluiced" to the position where they could not continue unless they had government interest paid to them.

Mr. McGeer said that in 1929 the banks were serving Canadian trade, industry and commerce to the amount of $1,616,000,000, but now this had fallen to $909,000,000.

"As long as we go on discounting public securities with the chartered banks and sustaining their operations with the payment of interest on public securities, what incentive have they to go out and take more risks and assist the financing of private enterprise," he asked.

TWO CONSIDERATIONS

C. S. Tompkins, inspector general of banks, said the making of loans depended on the type of enterprise and the prospect of profits.

Mr. McGeer said nothing could be safer than a mortgage on Canada, and there was no inducement to transfer the investment to private enterprise.

Mr. McGeer said there should be some information before the committee on the cost of operating the present banking system and he was prepared to appear as a witness.

Other members said the committee should get ahead with discussion of the bill.

APPROVE AMENDMENT

An amendment moved by Finance Minister Slaght was approved, on division. It provides that where the finance minister considers the amount set aside for inner reserves by a bank is excessive, he shall notify the minister of national revenue of the amount of excess.

Previously, the committee had voted down a sub-amendment by Mr. Slaght asking for taxation of the amounts to be set aside in the fiscal year in which the earnings from which they were taken were included.

Joseph Noseworthy (C.C.F.-York South) said the evidence heard by the committee indicated the banks had become so much of a public utility in loaning to governments that they should be nationalized.

King May Seek Seat in Ontario

TORONTO, July 19.—(CP)—The Globe and Mail said today in an Ottawa news story that it is "widely rumored" in the federal capital that Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who has represented Prince Albert, Sask., riding in the Commons since 1926, "may return to Ontario for this coming election."

The story continued: "Behind the reports, as heard by his own supporters, is the suggestion that a weakening in his riding organization and an upsurge of CCF strength which made the party's candidate an easy victor in the Saskatchewan elections, when added together, brings a conclusion that Mr. King would have extreme difficulty in getting re-elected in Prince Albert."

"Three Ontario ridings have been mooted as safe seats for the prime minister: Ottawa East, now represented by J. A. Pinard; Renfrew North, represented by R. M. Warren, and Grey North, represented by the seriously ailing W. P. Telford. Mr. Telford has not been able to attend this session."

Figures of the 1930 census revealed that there were 13,920,600 foreign-born people in the United States at that time.

German Reveals:

Disagreement Among Hitler Generals Is Proving Costly

MOSCOW, July 19.—(AP)—The Russian press published today a statement by Gen. Edmund Hofmeister, captured commander of the 41st German Tank Corps, declaring a disagreement among Hitler's generals over strategy on the eastern front was costing a great toll of lives and prisoners.

The captured general's statement, as published in Soviet newspapers, criticized Hitler's insistence on holding ground and refusing to retreat unless bludgeoned from positions.

"Field Marshal (Ernst) Busch (commander of the central front between the Pripiet Marshes and the Baltic states, the area of the most spectacular Russian advances of 300 miles or more) told me Hitler forbade any retreat," Gen. Hofmeister's published statement said. "Hitler ordered every inch of occupied country defended. Although I considered the order wrong, I had to obey."

EXAMPLE OF FUTILITY

"I want to say the defeat in White Russia is an example of the talentless command of Hitler. When Marshals Brauchitsch, List and Von Rundstedt and others tried to point out errors, they were discharged."

The captive general said Germany had no reserves to hold such a large territory as Hitler is now ordering the army to defend.

The Soviet press further quoted the statement as saying young Nazi generals such as Marshal Erwin Rommel, a field commander in France, and the late Col. Gen. Eduard Dietl, commander in North Finland until his death in a plane accident, sided with Hitler against the older commanders. The younger generals, Hofmeister said, "have had little experience in war."

The captive said there was considerable antagonism between older and younger commanders, but that the veterans were keeping silent and carrying out orders because of Field Marshal Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, had announced that any criticism would be punished by death.

Hofmeister asserted that Hitler, to affirm his strategy, recently called a conference of generals and admirals and that he attended.

"His (Hitler's) face was swollen, his voice was low and he got mixed up in his speech," the statement said.

Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo chief, and Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels attended the conference, which was described as a five-day school.

The prisoner said Hitler rambled and stumbled over his words throughout his speech to his commanders and asserted, toward the close, that Germany would win the war, of course.

DIDN'T EXPLAIN HOW

"But nobody explained just how," Hofmeister's statement said.

He added that, despite the strange delivery and the lack of conviction in Hitler's utterances, some of the young generals appeared charmed, especially when Hitler told them the way to victory was through faith in Nazism.

"The older, experienced commanders viewed the speech skeptically," the Hofmeister statement said. "We knew his words could not remedy conditions at the front where soldiers, tanks and planes are needed."

Export of Cheese To U.K. Tripled

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Canada's cheese exports to the United Kingdom have been practically tripled since 1935, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said last night in the Commons. In 1935 the cheese exports totalled 32,000,000 pounds. In 1942 the exports totalled between 100,000,000 and 150,000,000 pounds. They were slightly lower last year, but "were up" again this year.

Support Big British Attack

Bitterly-Contested Positions Cleaned Out As Canadians Drive Through Nazi Lines

By WILLIAM STEWART

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, July 19.—(CP)—Canadian infantry, supporting the big British attack east of the Orne river, last night were fighting their way through enemy defences across the river and cleaning out bitterly-contested positions.

The Canadians, who have tanks ready to help them, swept through more than 3,000 yards of enemy territory early yesterday morning in their attack just across the Caen canal and the Orne river under a concentrated artillery barrage.

There was little opposition at the start from the Germans, who still were reeling from the tremendous air and artillery bombardment which opened the British thrust around to the southeast of Caen and the simultaneous Canadian mop-up advance through an area of strong enemy defences.

OPPOSITION INCREASES

As the Germans recovered from their earlier pounding, the opposition in front of the Canadian troops increased and soon the Canadians had to fight their way through machine-gun and mortar fire. Enemy snipers also were active.

The Canadians took about 20 prisoners during the morning and progressed yard by yard while British forces were swinging around them for their phase of the assault. The infantrymen crossed the Orne river and Caen canal quietly Monday night to get into position for their latest operation. They started to march forward just after 8 a.m. when more than 1,000 R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers had completed a deluge of bombing of German defences to clear a path for the main attack.

The enemy reaction to the attack was slow for a while but then German tanks started to appear, particularly in front of the British advance, and artillery fire, including guns in the Canadian sector, was brought down on them. A sizeable artillery concentration also supported the Canadians.

TERRIFIC BARRAGE

The shelling that blasted a way for the Canadian advance was part of the greatest concerted artillery effort loosed in the British-Canadian area since D-day. It was coordinated with an unprecedented air bombardment.

Meantime roads and dirt tracks through dusty, yellow wheatfields swarmed with tanks, vehicles, carriers and ambulances all in orderly processions that started hours ago.

I set out at dawn to watch the heaviest attack yet launched from the British-Canadian sector, where smaller thrusts for weeks have kept the Germans hopping from one part of the front to another.

Even Monday and the day before you could tell something was afoot by the amount of traffic that filled the roads, on which pioneer corps men have been working for weeks. Other traffic, diverted to tracks through the fields, raised such clouds of dust that everyone thought the enemy from distance observation posts must be aware of the heavy movement.

LONG LINES OF TANKS

At sunset Monday long lines of tanks were visible as they crawled through the fields silhouetted against the skyline.

The roads were still full at dawn yesterday morning, with dust-covered, weary military police waving lines of trucks, tanks and jeeps forward.

As the first wave of bombers came over to smash at the German positions, French civilians awakened by the noise emerged from their houses in little villages and stood in the streets, watching the spectacle.

Following the forward troops in the advance were such weapons as anti-tank guns, towed by tracked carriers and trucks.

Asks Investigation Quebec Statement

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, in the house of commons yesterday charged statements made in the Quebec election campaign by Jacques Dumoulin, Liberal candidate for Montmorency constituency, amounted to an interference with mobilization and an offence against the defence of Canada regulations, if correctly reported.

He asked that Labor Minister Mitchell and Justice Minister St. Laurent investigate and referred to press reports quoting Mr. Dumoulin as saying young men were as numerous in the parishes of his county as before the war.

There was no immediate reply. Neither Mr. St. Laurent nor Mr. Mitchell were present.

Take Comb Honey From Ration List

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—The Prices Board announced last night that comb honey in standard wooden sections 4 1/2 by 4 1/2 inches or four inches by five inches, will be removed from the ration list July 20 in what was described as a "minor adjustment to ensure marketing of a perishable product." No change is being made in the regulations affecting cut comb honey and extracted honey, which remain on the ration list on the basis of two pounds per preserves coupon.

THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS A RUBBER TIRE!

• In these days of change in the rubber industry . . . from plantation rubber to synthetic . . . remember that rubber is just one part of a tire. Remember, too, that while rubber is important it isn't ALL important . . . that with ANY kind of rubber, a tire's strength, safety and trouble-free performance STILL depend largely on the many materials in and under the tread. In turn, the skill with which these materials are used depends on the knowledge and experience of the maker.

We give you this information so that YOU, the user of tires, will know that the next Goodyears you buy won't be "completely different" . . . or "experimental". They'll possess the many qualities, in even greater measure, that have made Goodyear Tires first choice of Canadian motorists for 29 years in a row.

In addition, the new Goodyears will incorporate all the benefits of our experience in the field of synthetic rubbers—experience springing from a research program which saw development in 1927 of basic patents which led to Goodyear's construction of this continent's first all-synthetic rubber tire and first commercial synthetic rubber plant.

Today, Goodyear Synthetic Rubber patents have been contributed to the Government for the common good—but the experience gained in developing these patents and in continuing research is part of the "hidden value" in tires made by Goodyear.

This is a Goodyear ALL-WEATHER Synthetic Rubber Tire!

Goodyear dealers have it . . . for eligible drivers only. It is the result of Goodyear's forty years' experience in tire-building plus Goodyear's specialized knowledge of synthetic rubber . . . gained through unceasing research and testing.

A Good Adjustment

An act of justice has been performed in the adjustment of rentals on the tents supplied by the city to homeless families in Edmonton.

The rental has been reduced from $15 per month to $8 and while this figure may still appear to be exorbitant in relation to the service provided, it has been carefully calculated on the basis of the cost to the city in the matter of installing floor boards and paying insurance premiums.

It is good to note, too, that the adjustment will be retroactive and that the overpayments will be credited to future rent instalments.

This new arrangement makes no appreciable difference to the revenue of the city. But the saving may be of much greater importance to those families which are already experiencing the hardships of war.

Japanese Disunity

Coming on the heels of an announcement that the Japanese have shifted their naval heads and made other important changes in war personnel, the news that Premier Hideki Tojo has been removed as chief of the Japanese general staff has considerable significance.

It is not unusual for wartime leaders to find it necessary to divide their responsibility with others during the stress of a great struggle. And, at first glance, it may appear that Tojo has merely delegated one of his duties to a subordinate because of the pressure of work.

This precedent, however, does not apply in Japan to the office and perquisites of a prime minister. It is no accident that Tojo has been both premier and chief of staff. It is traditional. It is part of the constitution that the cabinet should be dominated by the army and that the premier should hold the dual office, just as the president of the United States is always commander-in-chief of the American armies.

It is a fair inference, then, that Tojo has not surrendered this post of chief of staff of his own desire. For the chief of staff, under the peculiar Japanese system, is more powerful than the premier. In other words, Tojo has not elevated a subordinate to head the army, but the army has degraded Tojo from its leadership.

This looks very much like the political fall of Hideki Tojo.

The domestic system in Japan is far from being tranquil. The corroding factor of disunity has plainly appeared.

Hecklers in Quebec

In Lauzon, Quebec, Premier Godbout was unable to finish his campaign speech. Hecklers interrupted continually until he had to give up and close his meeting.

There are only two things to say about such loutish behavior:

First, it is so far from the traditional courtesy of the French-Canadian that one may be sure these bores do not represent the great body of Quebecois. Politeness has always been a French-Canadian virtue.

Secondly, the noise made by over articulate political partisans gives no indication of their actual strength.

A confirmed heckler may have the raucous voice of ten but, thank heaven, he only has one vote.

Roosevelt's Chances

The American Democratic party convenes today in Chicago to select its candidate for the presidential and vice-presidential elections in November. Although James Farley, Roosevelt's former friend, heads a powerful group seeking to discredit the President, there is little doubt that a fourth nomination will be offered him.

As Joseph Daniels, ambassador to Mexico, puts it, the Democratic party is a party of minorities none of which can elect its own representative to the White House. The party, therefore, requires a man with tremendous powers of conciliation and organization, capable of keeping those minority groups united. Only Roosevelt can do that at the present moment.

The Democrats realize that fact and Roosevelt's nomination will likely be unanimous and immediate.

There is no doubt that, in spite of the bitter domestic criticism of Roosevelt—perhaps, in some cases, because of it—the President has attained heroic stature, not only in his own party, but outside of it, not only in his own country, but throughout the world.

In his twelve years of office he has become a legend. And many people will vote for a legend even though they abhor the political implications attached to it.

During those twelve years, the man, of course, has changed. It is said that he has grown more secretive and more tolerant of political abuses. It is declared that he has become, in the natural course of events, more remote from the people.

But alongside those disadvantages there are many overbalancing advantages in his leadership. His health is said to be excellent. He still has infinite charm. He possesses an hypnotic quality among his followers.

But by far the most telling advantage is his training and fitness for leadership in war. The man is a competent and experienced naval strategist. It has been a lifetime study with him. And the tremendous accomplishments of the United States Navy are attributed, in a great degree, to his personal direction.

He is able, too, to discuss strategy competently and understandingly with the experts. Indeed, one might almost conclude that Franklin Roosevelt were made-to-order for the national emergency. Certainly he is the most capable commander-in-chief available in the nation.

For these reasons there is little doubt that the American people will return him for a fourth term. They probably do not want much more of the Democratic party. But they do want Roosevelt until the war is won.

On the other hand, the leaders of the Democratic party probably do not want Roosevelt the man. But they know he is their only chance to win the election.

Give More Blood

Parts of a letter received from an Edmonton medical officer overseas have been quoted in the news columns. He says:

"Up to June 24, there have been no deaths in our hospital of Canadian boys flown back from France, largely due to the blood serum, penicillin and sulfa drugs. Up to that date, there has been an adequate supply of serum for casualties. Since then so much of it has been used every hour of the day that the need for more such donations from Canada are urgent.

"I personally feel that blood donations can be listed as one of Canada's greatest contributions."

This is an appeal with urgent significance.

Many Edmonton people are already making regular blood donations. There are very many others who have not yet interested themselves in this particular form of national service.

Blood donation does not interfere with any other war work. It has no ill-effects. Everyone medically fit should be on the list of donors.

Cheap Politics

Editor Bulletin: The nomination of P.O. Johnny Caine, D.F.C., in my opinion is the cheapest political job in a long time. It is obvious to any one who knows Caine that he has been sold a bill of goods, and that the way he chooses to be elected is by cash in on his fame, have convinced him that he "owes it to the boys who are still over there fighting" to get in and do a job.

What a way to spend a 30-day furlough from war. The gratitude of the Edmonton people to Johnny Caine for his wonderful contribution to the war effort has been expressed in a queer way. Instead of leaving him alone to enjoy his leave the way he chooses he's been asked to appear publicly time and time again, and now that the Independents have got him to stand for election what a time he's going to have. Small wonder he says he wants to get back overseas.

Truck Drivers

Editor Bulletin: John Truck driver Held on Charge of Man-slaughter—How often those lines mark the pages of our papers. I don't always say that the truck driver is not to blame but I do say often that they are not to blame at all.

My husband and I drive to the city in a truck and on 99th St., south of Whyte Ave. there is a good sidewalk, yet no less than six times have we had to stop for children on the icy street. They stand with arms outstretched and legs astride and dared us to drive up to them.

One truck driver had to stop and remove the housekeeping equipment of a 5-year-old who neglected to bring a trailer house for transportation.

Two weeks ago it was not child, it was mothers with baby carriages who walked down the street and if a car met an approaching car they had to wait to pass. A schoolboy on a bike made faces and continued a figure 8 across the street when a car horn tooted and could not pass without an accident.

On the trail opposite Sunrise Nurseries, groups of girls checked cars coming into the city by walking abreast, arms entwined, down the street yet, I see the city has erected a new plank sidewalk.

Is there no law to make pedestrians use the sidewalk and protect the truck driver from manslaughter?

Tools of Peace

Editor Bulletin: Reconstruction is a matter of concern to all governing bodies at the present time.

The material contained in two briefs in particular has appealed to me very strongly, concerned as they are with the cultural aspects of Canadian life. One of these is the Brief Concerning the Cultural Aspects of Canadian Reconstruction, being a summary of fifteen briefs presented to the Special Committee on Reconstruction, House of Commons; the other is the Brief of the Canadian Library Council which is also to be presented to the Turgeon Committee.

As an individual citizen and a reference librarian actively engaged in library work at the present time, I offer the suggestion that financing of all cultural reconstruction projects, such as those embodied in these briefs, might well be accomplished by means of a Special Victory Loan to commemorate final Victory.

The slogan for such a loan might be "Provide the Tools of Peace."

Response to this appeal would afford an opportunity to all participating to give expression to their gratitude for the re-establishment of peace and for the re-dedication of the people of the Dominion to the creation of a still greater Canada.

In the campaign for such a loan, emphasis should be placed on the greatness of Canada and the needs of the generations to come.

The foundation of a greater Canada—a Canada which offers fullness of life to every citizen—would be the finest conceivable memorial to those who have fought and died to bring us victory.

What it will be six months from now, only God knows.

Both socialists and international financiers are hell bent on securing vast state monopolies. Both are trying to undermine our sovereignty. As Bismarck said: "We march separately but we fight together."

The Alberta voter is quite well posted on these matters and certainly it has never been said of him "he filled his belly with the east wind." Since we have at the head of this government one of the finest Christian gentlemen this or any other country ever produced, and judging by the enthusiasm shown at his meetings as well as other reports which have reached us, Alberta will, metaphorically speaking, "put the boots" to these wise men from the east on August 8th. Let's make it a good swift one.

Election

Editor Bulletin: Last Saturday there was a man who wanted to know if there was anything the present federal government ever did that was right in my opinion. I said I would answer him at the next meeting of the Canadian Legion. For some reason the meeting did not occur. Here are two special facts: The federal government has made a very strong fight against inflation, which means to me that the $15 pension I receive is still worth nearly that amount. But for the action of the government it could easily have been worth $5 a month or even $1 monthly.

Secondly, there is the rationing system which, if the law is enforced and I believe it is, puts one on a par even with Mackenzie King.

As to the two main elements in the coming election, the Social Credit party, outside of the $25 monthly which they did not give us, although they raised their own salaries, the recall and some minor affairs, have given us a fair administration.

The C.C.F. party, which promises if the quota of butter rationing is not sufficient why not take table cream (18% b.f.) off the market temporarily and make butter out of that? Surely that would give better and quicker results than by taking the Homo (4% b.f.) away from the needy.

Homo was not only exceptionally good for the children, but it was also the "cream in the coffee" for many adults who could not afford butter (18% b.f.) or table cream.

Taking the Homo off the market is working a hardship on the lower salaried classes, and robbing the children of considerable food value. The children don't care for plain milk (and who does), consequently they don't drink as much milk as they did when we had Homo.

I telephoned the W.T.P. & T. Board and the man there informed me that I was the first one in Edmonton to complain about the Homo being taken off the market. Edmonton is full of mothers who feel keenly the need of a reasonably priced richer milk—let's hear from you!

MARY HAWORTH, 9341 107 Avenue, Edmonton.

Invaders

Editor Bulletin: Election time having rolled round again, and old tactics having failed to produce results, it seems that a horde of "wise men from the east" are going to tell us poor, ignorant and backward Albertans how to vote. This in the face of the fact that the eastern editor long ago stated: "The people of Alberta have long been considered politically the most intelligent of all the provinces." Nevertheless these "wise men" have the monumental gall to imply that we will swallow hook, line and sinker their high sounding phrases, windy abstractions delivered with all the evasive ingenuity and outright deception the office hungry schemer is capable of.

Certainly much of the socialist program bears the foreign label. That their spokesmen in parliament railed against sending our troops overseas at the start of this war, we all know. What their attitude is now, only they themselves know.

Rehabilitating Servicewomen

England Opens a Centre Where Broken Bones And Nerves Are Healed

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

In a big old country house near London a servicewomen's rehabilitation center, the first in the world, has been opened.

It is for members of Britain's Auxiliary Territorial Service injured in action or by accident, who need specialized treatment to regain their physical and mental health, and provides recreational and educational as well as medical services.

First step in the cure is sometimes a visit to the beauty parlor where the patient can have a hair-do for as little as a dime. As soon as she is well enough there are shows, dances, games, and swimming in the open-air pool. Some of the girls have become enthusiastic gardeners and help cultivate the center's extensive Victory garden.

Many of the tanned, athletic-looking girls who exercise daily in the remedial gymnasium were, only a few weeks previously, in hospital unable to walk. Among them are a 22-year-old medical orderly who has seen 18 months service in Africa, where the heat affected her feet; a driver whose foot was trapped in a car crash; and a former radio location operator who hurt her knee when she fell running to her equipment as the siren sounded. Some have now attained complete fitness and will soon be back at "action stations."

Plans materialize, it is probable that the first trench will be dug near Ludgate Hill, where the cellars of destroyed buildings have been cleared.

The archaeologists hope to find "a layer of ashes, Bodica's fire; two or three layers of Roman pottery; three or four layers of broken layers leading up to medieval times; then another layer of ashes, the Great Fire of London; more layers, and finally, Hitler's ashes of modern London."

From these geologic details, archaeologists are confident that they will be able to piece together the life and history of the British people from A.D. 60 to 1666—when some 13,000 houses and 90 churches were burnt, and practically the whole city from the Tower to the Temple was razed to the ground—up to that memorable night in 1940 when the metropolis was only saved from a similar fate by the heroism of London's firefighters.

Through these discoveries the council want the people of London to see how their own history has been preserved throughout the ages. The council will apply to the government for priority in labor and materials, and they will co-operate with the builders, so that the building of the new city is not held up in any way.

gins, was foisted on the Liberals as leader by Hon. James E. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, it is alleged.

In 1940, Leader E. L. Gray ditched the Liberal party and ran as a candidate of the mortgage companies' party—the Independents. Without leadership, the Liberals were helpless and hopeless.

To the everlasting disgrace of the renegade Liberal executive, aided, it is said, by Alberta federal members of the rank and file Liberals of the province was permitted to be called since 1940 to elect a new leader and a real Liberal executive.

Rank and file Liberals who believe in true Liberalism voted Social Credit in preference to the mortgage companies' party, the Independent party. Liberals will again vote for the Social Credit government now under the leadership of Premier Ernest Manning.

The Manning government has given Alberta the most advanced social and economic reforms of any government in Canada. These reforms were in the platform of the Alberta Liberal Association when it had the vigorous and enlightened leadership of the now Hon. Mr. Justice W. R. Howson.

Liberals will vote and work for Premier Ernest Manning, a monetary reformer, who is able, honest and no renegade to the principles all true Liberals believe in.

Not a single Liberal candidate in the whole province of Alberta with 57 members to be elected on August 8. What renegades our Liberal executive members turned out to be!

Logging interests and hydro-electric power enthusiasts both wish to invade Adams Lake and Adams Lake. The lake extends for 35 miles north of Shuswap in a beautiful mountain basin. There are 10 miles of river and when the salmon run is functioning at full blast, once in four years, unbelievable millions of sockeye fight for the coveted nesting grounds to deposit their eggs.

It happened in 1942. In 1946 they will come back again, $15,000,000 worth of shining sockeye—perhaps $20,000,000—to be caught at the mouth of the Fraser, while a surplus of seed fish once more escape to their home waters, 300 miles distant in Adams Lake. ## The Character of "Young Ted"

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK.—"He was the most gallant soldier and officer and gentleman that I have ever known, and I make no exceptions," Maj. Gen. R. O. Barton, commander of the Fourth Division, said of Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt when young Ted died of exhaustion in Normandy. That opinion could express the opinion of others who had the privilege of knowing young Ted, and I dare say that others besides me feel truly humble in the presence of this great American character.

This was held to be an unconscious revelation of the aristocrat's feeling that the soldiers of his battalion were, so to speak, his serfs, an interpretation which would be resented by men who served with him in either war.

Incidentally, on that occasion when the was restless to get back to "his troops" he was naive in his patriotism and a simple fundamentalist in personal honor.

Young Ted held fast to his ideals all through a time of popular cynicism when his continuing interest in soldiering, as the personal duty of a citizen to his country, was rewarded with the base, alcoholic sneers of a licentious intelligentsia, and he was called, variously, a perpetual Boy Scout and an American junker.

At one stage of his long trial he was depicted as an aristocratic feudalist because some member of his family had said, or written, unguardedly, that when, in France in the First World War, he was sent to a hospital, gassed and wounded, he was restless to get back to "his troops."

In politics, young Ted had been eliminated early, for when Al Smith laughed him off in their campaign for the governorship in 1924 with the remark that "The young fellow ain't there," he measured his opponent's political size with an accurate eye. For a number of reasons he just wasn't there as a politician, which was unfortunate, for his ideals were decency in private and public life and pure patriotism.

As head of the clan of Republican or "out of season Roosevelt," he was overshadowed during the reign of those whom he called the Mavericks and it is one of my own regrets that, under the political hypnotism of contrast and the strains of "happy days are here again," I once added my voice to the scoffing in discredit of a man whose quality, the country, to its damage, did not know.

He fought, in the circle of his acquaintance, the propaganda that loose-living was but self-expression and that poverty was an adequate excuse for bad morals. He defended his belief that parents, poor or rich, owed their children a good example, and should maintain the family unit and the home at any sacrifice. I never knew a man more loyal to his word.

On the train for the 1936 Republican convention, young Ted and another Republican, one of the richest men in America, sat at a table opposite Heywood Brown and me. It was open season and we were needing all Republicans. Presently, the millionaire offered to bet us each $100 to $50 that the Republican nominee, whoever he might be, would beat Frank Roosevelt. We grabbed him in a stampede.

Two days before election, he wired us, wanting to renege. I let him off the hook, but Brown wouldn't. A few days after the election young Ted sent me a check for $50. He had an impression that he had taken half of the Republican end of my bet. I sent it back, explaining that he was not involved and that, anyway, it had been called off.

Again he sent his check, insisting that as much as he had thought he was down for $50 he ought to pay. Again I sent it back, and I have lost the correspondence. I believe he settled the problem within himself by giving $50 to the Boy Scouts.

Political Conduct Of War Is Rapped In British House

LONDON, July 19.—(C.P.)—A group of members of the House of Commons yesterday denounced the United Nations' political conduct of the war, and demanded immediate publication or surrender terms to Germany—as a measure to help shorten the war by undermining the Nazi regime at home and in the army.

Foreign Secretary Eden replied that the terms would be ready "when victory comes," and that it would be "unwise" to publish them now.

The critical group, led by Aneurin Bevan and Richard Stokes, both Labor members, charged Prime Minister Churchill with "extraordinary royalism" that makes him want to shore up every king whose throne he sees toppling.

SWELL

Say the Services...

THOSE YOUNG MEN in uniform do pop in at the most unexpected times. Well, they can't come too often, bless them!

And you can be all set and ready with Campbell's Chicken Noodle Soup on the shelf to ladle out big bowlfuls of the soup you know they'll like.

It's ready to serve in a jiffy—no trouble at all. Just watch the sparkle in their eyes when you ladle that rich, golden broth into their plates with lots of delicious egg noodles and plenty of tender chicken meat.

Anybody could tell, at the first taste, that this is not just noodle soup but Chicken Noodle Soup. The broth is slow-simmered from plump, selected chickens—just like they made chicken noodle soup in the old days.

This is the kind of good nourishing food folks need these days—a hale and hearty soup with lots of energy for those with wartime work to do.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW

By Jack DeLong

LAST summer at about the same period we had the pleasant experience of spending two weeks with the athletes and fans of Edmonton. Now again we have been assigned to the sports department during the absence, on a well-earned vacation, of Sports Editor Hal Dean.

Sport has a mystic lure. It is like a fellow's first sweetheart. If you have once known sport there is always a place in your heart for it, no matter how long since the parting.

So it is with keen anticipation that we again step up to the plate, hoping we can keep the sports show in this corner a going concern until Hal returns.

Flight Lieutenant Al Hall, a medical officer in the R.C.A.F., dropped down to look over last evening's baseball encounter between the Yanks and Dodgers. Posted recently to No. 3 "M" Depot here, Ft. Li. Hall is back in the old home town after service in Newfoundland and other points east. One doesn't qualify as a graybeard to recall that Ft. Li. Al Hall cut quite a figure in things sportive around Edmonton a few years before Adolf Hitler started the current global rumpus.

Hall played baseball, hockey, and rugby football and played them all well. He was a pretty fair sort of right-handed pitcher during the summer seasons, a mighty steady defence man on hockey teams, and each of several winters, and looked very dependable on the gridiron during those golden autumn days of yore.

HE WOULD FOOL YOU

AL had a deceptive style. Nonchalant as the Sphinx he seemed to move at a snail's pace at first glance, but he just seemed to be that slow, as his opponents in several lines of sport would give solemn testimony. He could move when the need arose.

There were times, though, when there was no deception involved. If the weather was overly warm and his team had a good lead Al would stop to rest any time it suited him.

We recall well the sultry summer evening that Al clouted what had the earmarks of the sweetest home run you ever did see, but stopped at second base to wipe his perspiring brow while outfielders, almost out of sight, in the old Boyle street ball park, frantically retrieved the ball. But those occasions were few and far between. Al was a pretty starry performer.

A shadow from the battle front in Normandy fell over the Edmonton sporting scene yesterday, as fans mourned news of the death in action of C. L. Mark Maveety, former star Edmonton hockeyist and all-around athlete.

Young Maveety has played the game all the way. Sport fans of Edmonton pause in a last salute to a gallant youth.

Cheapest Platers Feature Program At Regina Races

REGINA, Sask., July 19.—The Tuesday card at Regina was given over to the cheapest of platers with the well-played Elk Trap accounting for the best offering. The elderly mare raced into the lead in the opening furlong and never left the issue in doubt. Messenger Maid saved the place by a half length from Larry Junior.

The horse Baron Magic went on strike in the sixth and refused to go to the post. Once on the track out of the paddock the five-year-old apparently became frightened at the crowd and would not join the parade to the post. Jockey Black was tossed off several times and despite the efforts of several trainers Baron Magic could not be made to move and Presiding Steward Schilling ordered him scratched and all money was returned.

Gay Ray, which had run a fair race here Monday, was the winner of the sixth and three-and-one-half lengths from the favored Nikkila. Proud Santa returned to best form and made every post a winning one in the opener. The elderly Marelius also won his first race of the year in the second and completed a daily double of $36.60.

Ben Berril got up in the final strides of the seventh to nose out Rural Parade, which had opened a three-length lead entering the stretch. The Quinella paid $21.35. Miss Harmony, which drew the most betting, lost all chance by running wide when in the lead at the first turn.

Mutuel betting Tuesday showed an increase of 66 per cent. over the same day of last year.

Four-year-old Revy Wilbourn apparently has already made up his mind to follow in stirrups of his father, Frank, booting bangtails home. The youngster is weighed in by Judge Andy Ferguson at Agua Caliente.

Hall-McFarlane Win In Tennis Tourney

Play in the Civil Service Tennis Club's annual tournament on Tuesday was featured by the Hall-McFarlane combination's win over the Schmid-Loy pair in the men's open doubles.

Hall and McFarlane managed to come through on top, but it wasn't without a hard struggle as their opponents put up some real opposition before bowing 6-1, 5-3.

The only match to go three full sets was in the mixed open doubles between Wolfe-Docherty and Brodie-McFarlane. The Wolfe-Docherty combination came through the winners but they lost one set of the three in doing so.

Following are the results:

Opens at Vancouver

80 Stars Set to Compete In Canadian Aquatic Meet

VANCOUVER, July 19.—(CP)—About 80 top swimmers, including two from the United States, will compete in the four-day Canadian swimming and diving championships here Wednesday evening.

There will be 16 events on Wednesday and Thursday, with 15 races and finals each night. On Friday and Saturday there will be 17 events each night, with finals for main events.

One of the most thrilling races is expected to feature Canadian and United States champions, Lorraine Plaster of San Francisco, holder of the United States 150-yard individual medley of 1:57.1-5 is expected to get her chief opposition from Vancouver's Joan Langdon, Canadian 150-yard champion with a mark of 1:56.2-5.

CLASH THIS EVENING

These two stars will meet in the 100 yards breast stroke Wednesday night, in the 150 yards medley Thursday and the 50 yards breast stroke Saturday.

Catherine Kerr, Dominion freestyle champion, headed a contingent of seven women swimmers from Winnipeg who arrived Tuesday and spent several hours in Kitsilano pool, where the championships are to be held.

Toronto will be represented by seven swimmers, including Doris Geldard, who holds the junior girls' 150-yard medley record. There are seven entries from Montreal and three from Saskatoon.

Among Vancouver entries are Beverly Matlock, junior women's backstroke titlist, and Lynda Adams, diving champion. At the age of 14 Miss Adams represented Canada in British Empire games in London. She competed in Berlin in 1936 and at the British Empire games in Sydney, Australia, in 1938. Coaches Archie McKinnon and Don McGowan brought a dozen stars from Victoria for the meet. The championships are sponsored by the Vancouver (Kinsman) Milk for Britain Fund and no prizes will be given. Even the cost of the regular medals is being donated back to the fund.

Two Midget Games In Sandlot Playoffs

Two midget games were played Tuesday night in the city sandlot football playoffs at Diamond Park.

Montizien "Y" bowed to Seona Centre 21-15 in a free-hitting clash and Maple Leafs trounced the Canadians 25-6.

As a result of last night's wins, Seona Centre and Maple Leafs advanced into the semi-finals and will meet tonight, the winner to take on the Rosedale "Y" Phantoms victor in the final which will likely be played Friday night.

Howey and Maurie made up the winning battery for Seona Centre last night, while Kubitt and McClocklin were the losing pitcher and catcher respectively. Stocks checked for the Leafs with Brown catching in the other contest, while Brown and LePine made up the Canadian battery.

Tonight's games will bring together Rosedale and "Y" Phantoms at 7 o'clock and Seona Centre and Leafs at 8 in the midget semi-finals and Victoria and South Side at 7 and Cardinals and Tuxia at 8 in the juvenile division.

Calgary Angler Has Big Month

NELSON, B.C., July 19.—(CP)—Most successful fisherman of July in the Gyro Trout Derby, Kootenay Lake competition, was J. Roy McLean of Calgary. His 18 pound 12 ounce catch July 13 was big enough to place him in a second place tie with A. McLanders of Kelso, B.C. His entry of a second rainbow, 18 pounds five ounces, gave him fourth place standing as well. The Derby closes Nov. 13.

Hunter Wins Third Game In 4 Starts

THE Dodgers' monopoly on first place in the City Senior Baseball League since early in the season took a tumble Tuesday night when the 1943 champion U.S. Army Yanks pounded Walter Johnson for eight hits and an 8-3 victory at Renfrew Park.

The Dodgers played the game under Captain George Green's protest of a ruling made in the fifth inning, however. Galvin who was on first by means of a safe blow to right field attempted to steal second on the fourth ball pitched to Dorsey. Umpire Bob Coxford called Galvin out, but he was allowed to remain there when Umpire in chief John Ducey ruled him safe as he was entitled to the base when Dorsey was passed.

The argument then came up that Galvin was off the bag when tagged, but the officials declared him safe and he was allowed to continue.

The game, although not as colorful and exciting as the majority of the senior tilts, was close and anybody's contest until the eighth when the Yanks exploded for four runs to clinch the fixture and overtake the Dodgers in the tight race.

Forrest Hunter scattered nine Dodger hits and pitched steady ball for his third win in four starts for the Americans. Johnson's chugging wasn't as good as he had wished up in some of his previous engagements as he started wild and yielded four hits and three runs in two innings before settling down to shut out the opposition for five frames.

Birchfield, the first man to face Johnson, waited for four balls to get on base. He stole second, moved around to third when Schumacher grounded out, pitcher to first, and then came in on a wild pitch. Johnson then passed Roush who stole second and was driven in by Galvin's line drive past third that went for a two bagger, to tally the Yanks' second run. Dorsey followed with a double to left field to bat in Galvin and make it 3-0 in the first.

Ottum scored in the second for the Dodgers on a single to centre field, a walk to Superstein and Johnson's fly to Valenti. Superstein attempted to reach third on the last play, but was caught there when Valenti threw to the plate and Goodrich relayed to Birchfield who tagged him.

Birchfield scored again in the second on a fielder's choice, an error at short and a double to left by Roush to give the Yanks a 4-1 margin.

The Dodgers got two runs back in the sixth on two miscues and a pair of singles to come within one mark of tying the ball game. Morgan reached first when Meyers errored on a throw and advanced on Ottum's third hit of the contest. Robinson then came up with a nice single to centre to drive in Morgan. The play was made at the plate, but was too late and Goodrich, who was attempting to catch Robinson off the sack at first, threw wide, allowing Ottum to score from third.

The Dodgers threatened to tie the count in the seventh when Brockie got to second with only one away, and again in the eighth when Morgan reached second with none out. Some good defensive ball by the Yanks halted the two efforts.

The big explosion hit, settled the fixture in the U.S. club's favor came in the eighth. Valenti got on base on an overthrow at first by Williams, stole second, remained there while Meyers walked and then came in on Goodrich's double to left that sent Meyers to third. The two runners were driven in by a single to centre by Birchfield.

Birchfield finished off the rally by travelling the rest of the way around on a putout at first and a single by Roush. The Dodgers went out in order in the ninth to end the game.

A nice double play was pulled off by the Yanks in the fifth inning to retire the side. Brockie singled to centre, but Shandro grounded to Galvin who threw to second to cut off Brockie and Schumacher relayed to Meyers to beat Shandro.

Anchorage Plays Yanks Tonight

The Depoters, an aggregation of ball-tossers from the U.S. Army base at Richardson Field, Anchorage, Alaska, will display their wares to Edmonton fans at Renfrew Park this evening in the first of a two-game series against Edmonton's league-leading Army Yanks.

The lads from Anchorage are reputed to be the best in the city for their army aggregations up Alaska way and it should prove highly interesting to see how Edmonton army diamond artists fare against the squad from the northwest.

The games will start at 7 o'clock sharp each evening.

Fight August 7
CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP)—The Illinois Athletic Commission Monday approved promoter Jack Kearns request to stage a 10-round heavyweight bout between Lee Savold, Paterson, N.J., and Joe Baksi, Kilmont, Pa., at Wrigley Field on Aug. 7.

Temper flared high in the Navy-Enlisted Men game and Umpire George Barr called it with the Sailors ahead in the first half of the ninth. The game goes into the records as a win for the Nonsuchers unless a protest with suitable basis is filed an-withheld.

The final uprising started from a decision at first and the Americans protested so vigorously that the contest had to be called.

Al Young returned to Kingsway and pitched five-hit ball for the Navy in the hotly contested exhibition to hold the Enlisted Men to a pair of runs. He struck out 13 and only allowed one walk for a nice effort. Denny Mumaw on the mound for the losers only yielded three safeties, also for an outstanding performance.

Ken Cox had a good night at the plate when he slammed out a home run in the eighth with two on to account for the winning run in addition to getting a triple in the third. Following is the box score:

COWAN AND MILNER MEET IN PITCHING DUEL

Mike Milner and Slew Cowan hooked up in another tight pitching duel last night, but the U.S.A.A.F. Officers' flashy chucker held the Central-Aeroliners to five scattered hits as the U.S. club won the opening game of a best of three provincial playoff series 7-2.

The Officers, led by Clint Kellams and Milner, collected seven safeties from Cowan's offerings to aid them in their victory.

The winners scored three in the first by Fred Tudor, Joe Long and Kellams and then added four more in the fifth to almost clinch the issue. "Sunny" Wheatfield and Al Ciow came through for the losers in the fourth, but the Officers ended a central threat with just two crossing the plate.

Covers Mile Run In Record Time

STOCKHOLM, July 19.—(CP)—Arne Andersson of Sweden Tuesday night held a new world record for the mile run. He flashed over the Malmoe track in 4:01.8.

Andersson's sensational time clipped a full second off the record mile he ran July 1, 1943, which received recognition of the International Amateur Athletic Federation last February.

Why the lack of fanfare for such an event? A classic that was won in past years by such notables as Top Row, Time Supply, Seabiscuit, Menow, Fighting Fox, Eight Thirty, War Relic, Whirlaway, and Market Wise.

A Boston horse-player replied to this question as follows: "Neither this race nor any other race at Suffolk needs fanfare, as you call it. You could take eight pigs and let them race at Suffolk this year and the crowds would turn out to bet."

IT'S CLEAR AS MUD

Is this true? Has the mutual madness so mantled the hub city? Horace Wade, publicity purveyor for Suffolk, answers "Yes and no." Mr. Wade feels that the horse-player gilds the geldings a bit when he expresses such confidence in a polka for porkers—a pageant of pigs. However, Mr. Wade admits that Suffolk is having the most successful meeting in its history—a meeting that should hit its high spots today with the $50,000 Massachusetts and Saturday with the $25,000 Mayflower Stake for two-year-olds.

It seems that the Suffolk meeting, during its nine previous weeks, has averaged about $850,000 a day at the wagering windows, compared with $622,000 a day during last year's competition. Boston—noted for its culture, as well as the cod and the bean—is earnestly trying to elevate the status of the gee-gee.

A Copley-Plaza waitress was asked: "What do you suggest, sister?" Looking at her handiwork sheet, instead of the menu, she dreamily replied: "The early line shows First Fiddle at nine to five."

SOME REAL HANDICAPPING

THE dining room Diana meant that Mrs. Edward Mulhennan's of 124 pounds, is the 9-5 favorite to win the Massachusetts Handicap. Interviewed further on the subject, the platter informed that Green Tree Stables' Four Freedoms was rated next at 5-2; and A. C. Ernst's Alquest at 4-1.

But she was shopping for a better price among the other four certain starters—Alex Barth, Castelman, Ramillies and Coronal.

She concluded, "Yes—we can arrange to have your order of toast buttered; but be sure to remember that H. H. Miller's Incoming will start only if the track is muddy. You'd better—I mean better keep an eye on him."

Navy Trainees Defeat Phillies

BAINBRIDGE, Md., July 19.—(AP)—The Bainbridge naval training centre baseball team registered its third victory of the season over major league opposition Tuesday by taking an easy 8-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies of the National League.

Since he signed to coach the Columbia line next fall, Tad Wieman is definitely out as coach of the team-less Princeton Tigers, who will be looking for a big-time tutor when they resume football.

The Pentathlon Universidad, of Mexico City will make a basketball tour of the United States in December and January.

Marty Manus, former big league who pilots the Kenosha Wis., team of the all America girls pro baseball league, must be envied by managers of masculine teams. During a recent road trip, the gals washed and ironed Marty's shirts for him.

When Putt Powell, Amarillo (Tex.) Globe sports editor, and Howard Lynch, high school grid coach, reached the short second hole of the local country club recently, Putt magnanimously offered:

"Coach, if you make a hole-in-one, I'll give you a big writeup."

Lynch whacked away with his No. 7 iron and remarked, "There you are."

Probably he made that ace with a putt and a prayer.

One-Minute Sports Page:

The Little Hamilton, Ohio, race-track will be the scene of the longest rave over-run over a half mile track on July 20. The Hamilton Endurance Classic, will be at two and one-sixteenth miles and will take the nags past the grand stand five times.

The Brooklyn Tigers have sold $10,000 worth of season football tickets at Grossingers in the Cal-culskis. And one purchaser asked:

"Okay, and how do I get to Yankee Stadium?"

Anton Karl Glad He Stuck It Out

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—(AP)—About this time last year Anton Karl of the Phillies was ready to reach for his T-square and go back to the engineering profession.

It's a different story this year. In his last three appearances, Karl hurled six runless innings—facing 19 hitters, one more than the minimum—and was touched for only two hits.

What brought about the improvement?

"Constant work in batting practice," says Coach Mary Shea. "It's given him what he needed most—better control."

In Dominion

History of England, France
Is Said Basis for Unity

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—The history of England and France—once stern enemies and now strong Allies—offers a basis on which Canadians can reach greater unity, Senator Arthur Marcotte (PC—Saskatchewan) said in an address in the Upper House last night.

Senator Marcotte spoke in support of a motion by Senator L. A. David calling for action by the proposed Dominion-provincial conference on the preparation of a uniform textbook of Canadian history which would be acceptable to all provinces.

He said that while the subject was one which should be discussed on an academic basis it had become the basis of heated arguments.

Senator Marcotte made no direct reference to an address June 21 in the same debate by Senator T. D. Bouchard (L—Quebec) when Senator Bouchard said the Order of Jacques Cartier was fostering a movement for the establishment of an independent French state in Canada.

SENSATIONAL FURORE

Senator Marcotte said, however, that in introducing the motion Senator David "did not expect the sensational furore the discussion has created outside this chamber."

"Politics, and politics of a very base and degrading nature have become mixed with this question of history teaching," said Senator Marcotte. "So much so that it is difficult today to discuss this resolution in a manner that will not start bitter controversies. The present election in the province of Quebec is another reason for the care we have to take not to pass more fuel to the present burning fires."

He said Lord Tweedsmuir, shortly before his death, had told him he was working on a Canadian history which would be acceptable to both English and French Canadians. Senator Marcotte said he believed the preparation of such a book was possible if the authors stuck to the truth.

TWO MOTHERLANDS

"When I read history and I see the two Mother Countries of our Canada—England and France—fighting all over the world against each other for centuries while discovering, pioneering, developing new worlds to bring them civilization and Christianity; and then becoming United in a joint effort to save the world to that same civilization, to that same Christianity, and this for the second time in a quar-

Closer Inspection
Of Meat Is Urged

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—A. H. Bence (P.C. Saskatchewan) urged yesterday in the Commons that the government encourage young men to become veterinarians and serve in government meat inspection branches. He spoke after J. W. Burton (C.C.F., Humboldt) said that there was need for more meat inspectors and for a closer inspection of meat and fowl reaching the public.

King's Biography
To Appear Aug. 7

TORONTO, July 19.—(CP)—Robert H. Mackenzie, president and manager of the MacMillan Publishing Company of Canada, said last night an 80-page biography of Prime Minister Mackenzie King by the well-known German-born biographer, Emil Ludwig, will make its appearance in Canada to coincide with the 25th anniversary of Mr. King's leadership of the Liberals, Aug. 7.

"This is not enough to counteract certain elucubrations, certain movements by some irresponsible youths, movements which, if they are to be feared perhaps, are certainly to be deplored," he said.

This year's Saint Jean Baptiste day parade in Montreal, had a counterpart in Normandy where Canadian soldiers rode in jeeps and tanks in free France.

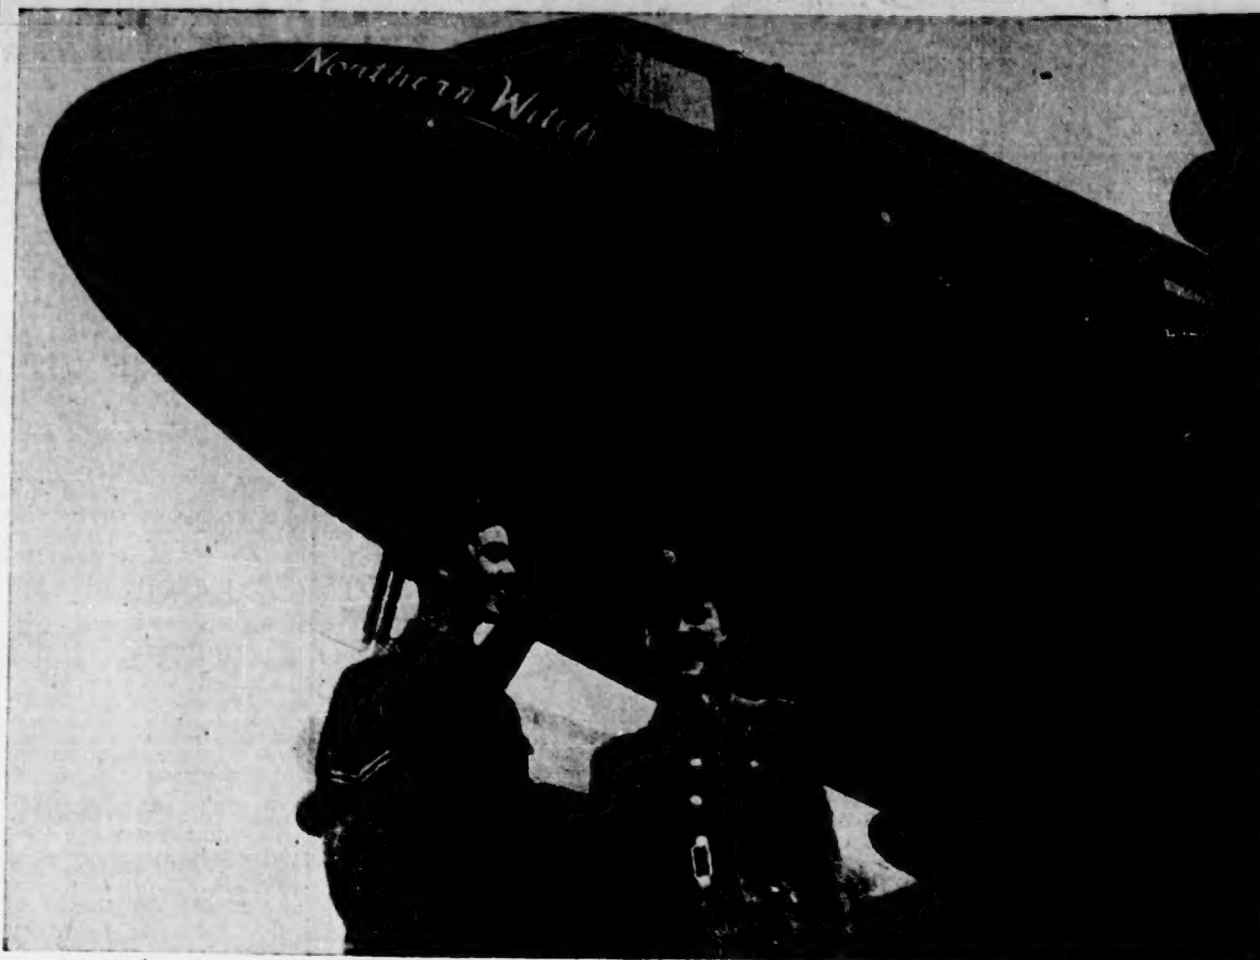

"Is this not enough to counteract certain elucubrations, certain movements by some irresponsible youths, movements which, if they are to be feared perhaps, are certainly to be deplored," he said.

BILLS GIVEN READING

First reading was given to a number of government bills including provision for a health and welfare department, amendment to the Salaries Act to provide for ministers of new departments and the Aeronautics Bill. Second reading was given a bill amending the Criminal Code.

The Senate also decided to include in its record as an appendix to the Senate Hansard, addresses made in Ottawa recently by Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand and Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

More Jap Ships
Sent to Bottom

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, July 19.—(AP)—The newly-formed far eastern air force sank or damaged four merchantmen, three coastal vessels and several barges in the continuation of scouring attacks on Japanese shipping, headquarters announced yesterday.

These blows brought the total Allied bag announced Monday and yesterday to nine ships, five coastal craft and at least eight barges sunk or crippled.

Patrol bombers caught a 3,000-ton freighter-transport off Malahera, one of the few remaining enemy strongholds between the Allied positions and the Philippines. It was left burning in the water.

Three 1,000-ton freighters were sunk or damaged. Two were attacked off Flores island in Netherlands East Indies waters south of Celebes. The other was sunk in Netherlands New Guinea's Macleaur Gulf.

On the ground, meanwhile, Allied troops were putting the squeeze on Japanese troops caught between Aitape and the Driniumor river.

Crop Conditions
Generally Good

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Crop conditions throughout Canada generally are good, although more rain is needed in certain districts, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported yesterday.

The report said a "very favorable outlook" for field crops continues in the three western provinces with the exception of the dry areas of southern Alberta, southwestern Saskatchewan and part of west central Saskatchewan.

In the Maritimes, haying is under way with the yield reduced by prolonged dry weather. More rain is needed for cereal crops.

Early oats and barley will be cut in Manitoba next week and wheat before the end of the month. Rainfall was generally light during the last week but the moisture situation on the whole is very satisfactory.

It is considered doubtful whether rain now would materially change the outlook in the drought area where half a crop or less now is in prospect.

Damage during the past week was confined to scattered hailstorms. Prospects generally in British Columbia were good following two weeks of fine warm weather.

Heavy Fire Damage
In Town of Haney

HANEY, B.C., July 19.—(CP)—Fire-fighting equipment for communities near this town, 30 miles east of Vancouver saved the business section of Haney from destruction by fire yesterday. A cafe and bakery were destroyed and the Fulmer-Watson department store damaged. At one time occupants of other buildings in the business section started to move furniture as the flames threatened to spread. Ann Andrews, 20, was trapped for a time in the burning cafe, but managed to attract attention of rescuers. Loss has not been estimated.

Farmers Urged
To Hold Beef
Until Finished

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardner said last night in the Commons that he hoped farmers would hold beef cattle until they were well finished before marketing them and thus ease the problem of handling at processing plants.

Mr. Gardner said there was a market for all beef but the problem was in handling. Farmers could help by distributing their marketings over a period.

William Bryce (C.C.F.—Selkirk) said he wondered if the Canadian Meat Board would have representatives on livestock markets to make livestock purchases for the government and thus protect the consumer's interests.

NO LIVE ANIMALS

Mr. Gardner said this would not be done as the board bought beef and bacon not the live animals.

"But its the only way you can protect the producer on the market," said Mr. Bryce.

Mr. Gardner said he had not found the packing plants "crooked" as some thought. Flat prices for hogs had been maintained throughout the year because of sales to the United Kingdom.

The price to the United Kingdom and the prices paid by packers had been checked and it was evident farmers were getting the best return they ever did for hogs in relation to the prices paid packers.

The same situation would apply in respect to beef. The meat board would buy beef at all times unless someone else wanted to pay more than the floor price.

Robert Fair (S.C.—Battle River) said the producer had not received protection he should have had, but the packer was guaranteed his price and a profit. The government should go on the market and make cattle purchases.

Son Seeks Control
Of Properties Held
By Father, Aged 85

TULSA, Okla., July 19.—(AP)—R. T. Daniel, Jr., of Oklahoma City, petitioned the Tulsa County court yesterday for appointment of a guardian to handle the Oklahoma properties of his 85-year-old multimillionaire father. The petition contends that Daniel is mentally incompetent and that a guardian is needed to protect his heirs from dissipation of his properties. Grover C. Spillers, Tulsa attorney representing the younger Daniel, said similar suits would be filed in Texas, Washington and British Columbia, where Daniel also has property.

Eye-Witness Account

History's Greatest Air Blow
Dealt Nazis on Caen Front

By LOUIS HUNTER

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE, July 19.—(CP)—As dawn broke yesterday the sky over this part of the Normandy battlefield was rippled with thin white clouds and a crescent moon hung high over the crimson fringe of the coming day. The silence was broken only by the occasional bark of our guns until one bomber came into sight. It flew across the face of the moon, and was followed by another then others in swarms.

The aircraft—they looked like black specks in the half-light—were the first of thousands of British and Canadian-manufactured Lancasters, Stirlings and Halifaxes and of American four-engine bombers coming over to pulverize the German positions east of the Orne River in the greatest aerial operation in history.

Then the crump of high explosives striking home shook the ground for miles around.

The noise became ear-splitting as the roar of artillery was added to the drone of the bombers, the crackle of anti-aircraft fire and of the bombers' guns. Swarms of Allied fighters circled about the sky over the bombers but the German air force remained on the ground. Even the enemy's flak rarely became really heavy during the air bombardment.

SUN BLOTTED OUT

By this time the cloud of smoke and dust was so high it obscured the rising sun. Day was turned into night over the entire British-Canadian area of the battlefield and miles behind.

The rumble of explosions seemed to grow. Nearby guns barked and a hail of shells roared over our heads as the last of the first wave of more than 1,000 bombers turned for home. The noise faded momentarily.

By 7 a.m., about an hour after the attack started, visibility was restricted to about 200 yards.

It was so thick we could not see the second phase of the attack. We could hear the engines of the American heavies—Flying Fortresses and Liberators—overhead, but couldn't distinguish the machines, although we heard the distant crump of their bombs.

HEAR BOMBS EXPLODE

It was equally impossible to witness the attack by hundreds of Allied medium bombers dropping fragmentation bombs among German positions, but we heard the sound of their missiles landing and exploding.

By 8 a.m., the pall of smoke and dust settled over the target area like a huge black mushroom. The sun penetrated the shroud over the beachhead but even as I drove

Staff Shortage
Blocks Disease
Check on Cattle

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Shortage of manpower in the department of agriculture makes it impossible at this stage to undertake a check of the cattle herds of Canada to determine the extent of Bang's disease, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said yesterday in the Commons.

Several rural members, led by W. A. Fraser (L—Northumberland) urged immediate action to combat the disease more effectively because of the losses it caused to farmers and the danger of its causing undulant fever in human beings who drink unpasteurized milk from affected cows.

SHORTAGE OF STAFF

Mr. Gardiner said there was a shortage of veterinary staff which even now made it difficult for the department of agriculture to keep up the testing of cattle for tuberculosis and to undertake tests on a similar scale for another disease was not practicable.

During a later discussion of Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act activities, Mr. Gardiner said that irrigation projects in the west on which information had been gathered might cost $111,000,000 to complete after the war.

In addition, water projects to supply Regina and Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan cities, might cost from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 more. Projects to assist the cities and surrounding districts have been urged by J. R. MacNicol (PC—Toronto Davenport).

CHEMISTRY

CANADA

IN many plants producing aircraft, ships and other heavy war equipment the extraordinary powers of the X-ray are being employed for precise inspection of metal parts. The same X-ray which revolutionized medical practice is now serving on the production line.

Modern machines of war are largely constructed from metal parts that have been cast (shaped from molten metal) and welded together. These parts and their welded joints must be sound and strong.

The X-ray makes possible the most careful examination of the internal structure of steel, aluminum and other widely used metals. The penetrating scrutiny of X-ray reveals any hidden flaws. With such advanced methods, faulty material can be detected and discarded early in production. X-ray inspection makes sure that only sound, reliable weapons and machines are delivered to our fighting men.

Through its Plastics Division, C-I-L brings to Canada the benefit of great research in this important field—research carried on for many years by DuPont scientists. Fast, reliable DuPont Safety X-ray films for industrial, as well as medical and dental use are available through leading X-ray Film distributors from coast to coast.

X-ray films for industry—and, of course, for medicine—provide another example of a product of Industrial Chemistry which serves Canada in war and peace.

Official Says May Be Delay In Legislation

Keen disappointment was felt that the Dominion government is likely to postpone the passage of legislation designed to improve the welfare of blind pensioners, Capt. M. C. Robinson, Vancouver, national director for Western Canada of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind, stated today.

He said that it was possible this legislation was not being dealt with at this session because the new department of welfare has not been created.

The Canadian National Institute of the Blind has succeeded in obtaining exemptions of $480 from income tax for blind pensioners otherwise eligible for the tax. He said this was not a concession or a compromise for other and more important issues between the institute and the Dominion government.

He said also that the Dominion government had granted the concession in all of its buildings for depots for men blinded in this war. Three or four such men have been placed in vending booths in these buildings, and 20 are being trained to man other depots. The central training establishment in Canada is located at Baker House, Toronto.

C. J. Jensen expressed belief on Wednesday that Yellowknife, N.W.T., will be one of the largest gold mining fields in the Dominion after the war. Mr. Jensen has operated a taxi service at the northern mining town since 1938.

He said the country around Yellowknife is staked from Yellowknife Bay to 50 miles north. He is making efforts to purchase a boat to give ferry service between the settlement and the mines, two miles across the bay.

Former City Man Wins U.S. Award

A former Edmontonian, Staff-Sgt. Robert F. Campbell, U.S. Army, was recently accorded the first such high military citation to be bestowed on any enlisted man in this war—the Legion of Merit—United States' fourth highest military medal.

Sgt. Campbell is the son of P. R. Campbell, who was manager of Alberta Government Telephones here for 10 years. Born in Edmonton, he attended Jasper Place school for a couple of years prior to moving to California with his family.

A control tower operator, he served throughout the Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns, and in the Italian and Balkan campaigns. His citation reads in part: "During the Salerno beachhead operations Sgt. Campbell successfully handled the entirely new problem of mass night landings without a single traffic accident. He has been responsible for saving no less than seven planes lost at night, by his alertness, quick thinking and prompt action."

United States Is Proving Largest Provincial Market: Egg Deliveries Show Gain

This year, for the first time since the war started, poultry meat was shipped from Canada to Great Britain in limited quantities. A few million pounds have been sent but according to A. F. Darnell, senior poultry products inspector in Alberta for the Dominion government, the best market has proved to be the United States.

"A quarter of a million pounds of this year's chicken and fowl from Alberta has been booked for shipment to the United States, as part of a two and a half million order being filled by Canadian producers," Mr. Darnell said. "Prospects for shipping further huge quantities to the U.S. appear very promising at the moment, but no definite contracts have been negotiated."

Deliveries of eggs to the special products board in Alberta have shown an increase of 95 per cent over last year's, and the two drying plants in this province now have a total drying capacity of approximately 60,000 dozen eggs a day.

The special products board was set up to deal with exports from Canada to Great Britain and other countries and the contract with Britain for egg powder has meant a floor price to producers. The delivered price for Grade A large at Edmonton and Calgary drying plants is 33½ cents a dozen. Deliveries of eggs to the end of June this year amounted to 10,013, 670 dozen as compared with 5,290, 440 dozen during the same period last year.

Mr. Darnell indicated that this increase will continue throughout the year. During the peak of deliveries in May when capacity of the drying plants was unequal to the deliveries the eggs were broken and frozen in 30-pound moulds to be held as a backlog for when deliveries are lighter.

A steady improvement in the quality of poultry products in Alberta is noticeable. This is due in no small degree to the establishment of 139 fully registered grading stations throughout the province which act as distributing centres for information regarding production of eggs and poultry.

These registered stations have controlled temperatures of less than 67 degrees Fahrenheit and are in charge of a certified grader with approved candling facilities. It is expected that the remainder of the 189 stations in Alberta shortly will be fully registered.

A market has been found for all eggs and poultry meat offered up to date. The great difficulty in handling further increases will be the freezer and storage space which continues very limited, Mr. Darnell stated.

Storage situation is affected by the increased marketing of other products such as beef, butter, pork and other perishables. "Box packed poultry prepared by Alberta dealers has been well done," Mr. Darnell said, "and has proved satisfactory to any market to which it has been shipped."

"There is room for better finishing of poultry, especially chicken, on farms, and there is also room for more killing services to provide a rail graded system of payment in order to return to producers a premium for quality. This is a necessary incentive for special feeding," he added.

Chick hatching in this province has shown an increase of 34 per cent. over last year. The 1944 hatch totalled 5,514,967 chicks from a total of 8,984,195 eggs set, as compared with 3,607,372 hatched in 1943.

Hatchability of this year's set stands at 61.4 per cent, an improvement over the 1943 hatchability of 58.26 per cent. Setting capacity in Alberta hatcheries this year totalled 2,102,434 as compared with last year's capacity of 1,542,116.

THE QUESTION
What do you think of the city's decision to reduce tent rentals from $15 a month to $8, and allowing previous overpayments to be credited to future rentals?

THE ANSWERS
L. P. DANIS, government promotion director: I believe the city should provide the tents free. The hardships people must endure in tent accommodation are so great they should not be allowed to happen. With all the empty soldiers' huts in the city, people who have been evicted from their homes should be given this type of shelter, rather than tents.
MRS. JOAN CARLETON, secretary: The seven-dollar reduction is a step in the right direction, but eight dollars is still a lot of money to charge for a tent. I think there is room for further reduction, or better still, provision of something better than tents.
ROBERT CANTELON, writer: Tents don't provide any answer to the housing problem. The sooner a proper housing program is instituted, the sooner these makeshift propositions can be junked, which is what ought to be done to them.

City Is Probing Two Accidents In Tram System

Investigation of two accidents involving three street railway vehicles are being investigated by officials of the department concerned, Mayor John W. Fry stated Wednesday.

Three persons were injured in one crash, and in the other the motorman, the only occupant of the street car, escaped with a severe shaking, and the loss of a tooth.

One accident occurred shortly before 6 p.m. on Monday when a south bound car ran into the rear of a stationary blue line car at the intersection of Jasper avenue and 109 street.

The other accident occurred about 2 a.m. Wednesday morning when a street car crashed into the caboose of a C.N.R. train engaged in switching operations at 114 avenue and 81 street.

GRASS IS BLAMED
Long grass on the street railway right of way which prevented the street car's brakes from taking hold is given by the motorman as the cause of the crash on Wednesday morning.

In the Monday accident the motorman stated that he was making change for a passenger who had boarded the street car at 108 street, and that he misjudged the distance between the cars and was unable to stop his vehicle in time to prevent the accident.

Reservists Ready For Annual Camp

Several Edmonton units of the Canadian Reserve Army will leave the city Saturday night for two weeks' summer training course at Camp Sursee, near Calgary. The first camp will be held July 23 to Aug. 6 and the second Aug. 6 to 20.

Approximately 300 men from this city will march to the C.N.R. depot at 10 p.m. Saturday to entrain for the southern camp.

Train Crashes City Tram Car At Intersection

The front end of a city street car was destroyed and the foremost trucks of the car were shoved 12 feet off the tracks, after it had been struck by a Canadian National Railway freight train at 114 avenue and 80 street, about 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Operator of the car, Frank Stevenson, alone on the car at the time, escaped with the loss of a tooth.

The accident, the second this week to street railway equipment, took place when the car was struck as the train, composed of locomotive No. 7025, a caboose and two freight cars backed up near the Northern Box Factory.

The motorman stated that he saw the approaching train and put on his brakes. Long grass growing about the tracks sent the car into a skid, which continued after he had thrown the car into reverse. The car was one used on the "white" run.

TRAIN CREW

First of the trainmen to see the car was W. W. MacAndrew, switchman, Room 9 Jasper Block, according to city police. W. A. Taylor, 9664 102A avenue, was engineer and D. D. Stewart, 11423 123 street, switch foreman.

No passengers were aboard the car at the time.

Flight Officer Dora Newson Organizes R.C.A.F. Laboratory

By LAW, ELEANOR MARTIN

When Florence Nightingale started nursing wounded and diseased British soldiers in the Crimea 80 years ago, the Lady with the Lamp likely had no idea that in the next century, women would be administering to women in the armed services or go delving into medical research.

Yet this kind of pioneering has been done in this war by R.C.A.F. women doctors. An example lies in the organization by Flight Officer Dora Newson of Edmonton, of a laboratory at the largest R.C.A.F. hospital, that at the Technical Training School, St. Thomas, Ont.

HAD PROBLEMS

Dr. Newson did not encounter the same kind of obstacles met by Florence Nightingale. Still she had problems in obtaining needed materials and supplies due to short-cuts caused by more immediate demands in active theatres of war. During the past two years, however, F.O. Newson has striven to augment the equipment and supplies of the "lab" until today it is up-to-date and well stocked with the needed chemicals for the numerous experiments and tests it is called upon to make.

A few "finds" have been made in this laboratory but Dr. Newson feels that they are of only minor importance to the medical world. These, and the looking after of some 200 members of the Women's Division stationed at the T.T.S., are "exacting" events in the life of this modest woman physician.

F.O. Newson looks after the bacteriology in the laboratory herself. This involves the preparation of all types of "media" for the growing of bacteria, constant observation of the growths and determination of the causes of various diseases.

HAS EXCITING MOMENTS

In her bottle and microscope-adorned laboratory, Dr. Newson admitted that some of her "exciting" moments were in the discovery of several new blood diseases of non-serious type. "These are rare diseases but the finding of them is an exciting highlight of the lab which doesn't very often occur," the doctor said.

Tall, slim, and blue-eyed, the auburn-haired doctor insists on absolute accuracy in diagnosis by her staff in bacteriology. "I try to instill in my staff the necessity for accuracy and of being sure they are right before giving their opinion on the outcome of any test," she said. She placed the greatest confidence in her lab staff and spoke highly of their co-operation during her term at the hospital. She was also proud of three members of the "lab" who, in their off-duty hours last winter, attended the University of Western Ontario in nearby London, and graduated with honors in first year bacteriology.

ARRIVED JUNE 1942

Dr. Newson arrived at her first Air Force posting in June of 1942 and has been at St. Thomas ever since. There was a staff of two women in the lab but up to that time they had not carried on laboratory procedure. Dr. Newson was grateful to the London hospital laboratories who had given them materials and equipment from their own supplies in order to get the R.C.A.F. "lab" started. "Perhaps they realized in giving us sufficient supplies to get started, they would be doing themselves a favor because all our 'lab' work formerly was sent in to London to be done," Dr. Newson explained.

The organization of the "lab" was not an easy task for it involved the readjustment of all methods of testing mainly because no gas was available. An alcohol burner is being used at the present time for experiments and tests requiring heat. But constant adaptation to the materials at hand is also another of the doctor's worries, as a great many items used formerly are now unavailable. Thus Dr. Newson must find other methods of testing which are just as reliable as the old ones.

The St. Thomas hospital is one of the few R.C.A.F. hospitals to do bacteriology work in its laboratory, and Dr. Newson pointed out that it filled most of the requirements for an efficient "lab". Improvements and new tests are constantly being added and the unit compares very favorably with other "labs" the doctor worked in prior to her service.

EDMONTON DOCTOR

career. A few rare tests are sent to the Ontario government as it is not worthwhile to set up the special equipment required.

HEALTH INTERESTS

F.O. Newson has the health interests of the Women's Division personnel at heart. "I never get tired dealing with the girls," she said.

"They are in the nicest age group and I very seldom find a girl who is lead-swinging. It is easy to get to know the girls on the station since they are staff and are not constantly coming and going. I think of my work with them as a family practice."

"After a while it is easy to pick out the chronic complainers. However, most of the time it is easy to talk them out of this condition or by chatting, find out what's behind it and find a remedy," the doctor said.

In one of the three rooms which make up her laboratory, is her desk, surrounded by business-like microscopes, bottles, and test tubes. Her colorimeter microscope has a specially-built compartment with a black board over it so that the daylight will not filter in to the slides. A specially-constructed and delicate measure weighs to a third or fourth decimal place. An incubator kept at blood heat and which is usually filled with growing blood cultures is another interesting item of equipment. In the other main room, biochemical tests are completed by members of the staff under the doctor's supervision.

A youthful curiosity about medicine led Dr. Newson to become a doctor after obtaining her science degree at the University of Alberta. Before returning to the University to gain her medical degree in 1931, she spent two years in the laboratory at the Royal Alexandra hospital in Edmonton. At the time of her enlistment she was in charge of bacteriology and biochemistry at that hospital.

Dr. Newson said she had intended to go into private practice after her internship at the Royal Alexandra hospital but her experience in "lab" work during the summers and the two years prior to her medical course fitted her for the vacancy at the hospital.

More than 250 persons called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Thomson, 10905 85 avenue, Tuesday afternoon and evening, on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomson are presented with two purses of gold, one from the members of the family, and the other from 50 neighbors. A presentation of a gold framed picture was made by the couple by the Northern Alberta Pioneer and Old Timers' Association, of which Mrs. Thomson was honorary treasurer for 15 years. A group of club women of which Mrs. Thomson is a member, presented them with a coffee table.

Messages of best wishes were received from every province in Canada.

Special messages of congratulations were received from the Right Honourable W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, and Mrs. Cora T. Casselman, M.L.A. Edmonton East.

Mr. King said he would like to join with their many friends in extending warmest congratulations and best wishes. His message read: "The years which you have shared in unbroken companionship, are in themselves, a benediction upon each of your lives. I hope that in the days which lie ahead, you may both be blessed with peace and sweet content."

Miss Marie Bouvier has returned to the city from Edson, where she spent two weeks holidaying.

Saddle Club To Hold Show

The Briarcrest Saddle Club, formed in 1940, started with the idea of entertainment and outdoor exercise or members of the Armed Forces and as the owner, manager and riding instructor, Mrs. William Greaves, said, "so the boys and girls could have a home away from home."

The club boasts a stable of 100 horses and a membership of 100 active young people. The stables and club house are situated at 149 street and 118 avenue.

The horses are being put through their paces over the big ring and being polished from the tip of their noses to the tip of their tails for the Edmonton summer show of the club, which will be held near the Manning Depot at the Exhibition grounds Friday and Saturday. The show starts at 9 a.m. Friday.

TINIEST RIDER

The tiniest rider with her five-year-old pony, Yo Yo, to the largest hunter, Vanity-Hay, are in fine shape for the show and the famous mascot of the stables, Kinney Tide, is enjoying every minute of his exercises around the ring and with his buggy.

Mrs. Greaves reports there is all ways excitement and plenty of thrills and spills getting ready this large group of horses for the show, in which 50 riders will perform.

Officers of the Saddle Club include: President, Mrs. Greaves, vice-president, J. W. Followay, secretary, Mrs. Leslie Furrows, treasurer, Miss Leona Hinchey, press reporter, Mrs. A. H. Gardiner, executive members, Mrs. "Bud" Hinchey, Miss Gladys Schular, Miss Alberta Braut, Mrs. Irene Martin and Berle Delin.

OUTDOOR EXERCISE

As well as the outdoor exercise of riding, horseback the club organizes winter games and in winter, members enjoy hay rides, sleighing and games on horseback in the snow. Mrs. Greaves said it is a colorful sight in winter to see the young riders in colored ski clothes riding their ponies.

In the evenings, dancing and refreshments are enjoyed by the members. Miss Josephine Rackham, analysis Mrs. Greaves with the club's activities and in the care of the horses.

Mrs. T. W. Meters of Victoria is visiting in the city for a few weeks with her son Laurier Meters, and daughter Mrs. E. Sterling.

In compliment to Miss Cora Lilian Hortie, whose marriage to LAC. Howard Moineau takes place Thursday evening, Mrs. Bert Fisher entertained at a cup and saucer shower at her home recently.

Miss Diana Gainer of Calgary has arrived in the city to spend horse show week. She is the guest of Miss Olive Wilkinson at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkinson.

Monty in High Spirits Giving Battle Review

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

The following dispatch was transmitted by British United Press War Correspondent Richard D. McMillan by radio telephone from the Caen area to his London bureau and is the first telephonic news transmission from France to England since three days before the fall of Paris in 1940. Correspondent McMillan spoke on a one-way circuit to John A. Parris of the B.U.P. London staff. Censors did not permit Parris to question him.—Editor.

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
BRITISH SECOND ARMY HEADQUARTERS, France, July 19.—(BUP)—By Radio Telephone to London—Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, wiry, black-bearded Allied commander, announced today that "strong armored and mobile forces" have been thrust into the break in the German defence lines south and southeast of Caen and the first gains were made at "extremely light" cost in personnel and equipment.

Monty of El Alamein was in high spirits as he rattled off a staccato appraisal of the past 24 hours' fighting.

"AN EXCELLENT DAY!"
"We had a very good day yesterday," he snapped. "An excellent day. We gained tactical surprise. The present situation down there is that we are in strong force south and southeast of Caen. We also have a strong force due east of Caen."

"We made a bound forward a few days ago which we wanted badly to make. The Germans didn't want us to make it. (Montgomery evidently referred to the capture of Caen, where the Germans had held out from D Day, June 6, until July 9.)

"It is quite obvious that our position was improved. Well, yesterday we did it. We went forward again. It was a very good day."

"We now have a nice little area on the other side of the Orne with Caen as a centre."

PRAISES PARATROOPS
The British airborne division which captured and held for six rugged weeks valuable positions on the east bank of the Orne through which the latest armored blow was launched received a "Monty accolade."

"Without doing this," he said, "it would have been impossible to do with such little casualties what we did yesterday. The men of the airborne division who thus far have died did not die in vain."

The leathery little general asserted with a wide-swinging gesture, that "Europe is now one great and vast battlefield with Germany in the middle, ringed by the Allies," he said, are three great teams.

LAUDS AIR HELP
"The Allied team in Normandy," Monty said, "was welded together under General Eisenhower. Our motto here is 'One for all and all for one.'"

He spoke with admiration of the gigantic air force which Air Chief Marshal Sir Trafford Leigh-Mallory threw at the Germans as a prelude to yesterday's thrust.

"We will have no trouble beating the Germans in battle," he concluded confidently.

Vancouver Firm To Buy Surplus Goods From U.S.

VANCOUVER, July 19.—(CP)—Vancouver Sales and Appraisals Ltd., of Vancouver has been authorized by the American government to buy or sell any surplus material from blankets to bulldozers, unused in building of the Alaska highway, Alex Johnson, president of the company, said in an interview yesterday. Sales are subject to approval of the Federal government and duty and other levies must be paid on the goods purchased. They are brought into British Columbia free of duty.

Sale of the articles follows a report of a week ago revealing wastage in destruction of materials used in building the Alaska highway and in other American enterprises.

Present Brief Truckers Oppose Railways Entering Highway Services

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP)—Unless government limitations are imposed there is a danger that railways will create a complete monopoly of land transportation through establishing highway services, the Canadian Automotive Transport Association said today in a brief presented to the Commons Reconstruction Committee.

The brief said the entry of railways, directly or through subsidiaries, into the field of highway transportation should, in the public interest, be limited to the extent that they will only be permitted to operate highway services as part of a combination of through rail-highway traffic.

"The motor transport industry is unique in that it allows thousands of individuals to operate their own businesses on a sound basis," said the brief.

URGE GOVT. CONTROL
"This opportunity to re-establish many present members of the armed services will be minimized if the railways are permitted to control or become large highway operators."

Federal legislation to control railways' expansion in highway traffic should be passed.

Other recommendations were: That regulation of inter-urban motor freight carriers be returned to provincial authorities at the earliest possible moment, without further federal interference after the war;

That surplus automotive equipment

377 Estimated Dead in Blast Of Arms Ships

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—The death toll in the explosion of two ammunition ships at Port Chicago Monday night continued to rise today as the navy prepared to investigate the disaster, the worst munitions blast since the French steamer Mont Blanc exploded in the harbor at Halifax, N.S., Dec. 6, 1917, killing 1,226 persons.

An estimated 377 persons were killed in the blast, which sent the two vessels, the $2,000,000 Victory ship, Quinalt Victory, and the $1,600,000 liberty ship, E. A. Bryan, skyrocketing into the air in a sheet of white flame and nearly demolishing the small town of Port Chicago.

Estimates of the number of injured ranged from 500 to 1,000 and property damage was reported well above the $5,000,000 mark.

NO EXPLANATION
The navy could offer no explanation of the blast, which was felt in 14 counties within a radius of 50 miles and officials explained that any investigation would be hampered by a lack of survivors to give evidence of exactly what happened.

Only four bodies have been recovered from the debris of the explosion and naval officials still were unable to compile a complete list of casualties.

The navy estimated that 250 enlisted personnel, most of them negro sailors who were loading the two vessels with ammunition at the time of the blast, are "missing and presumed dead," along with nine officers, five coast guardsmen and three civilian workers.

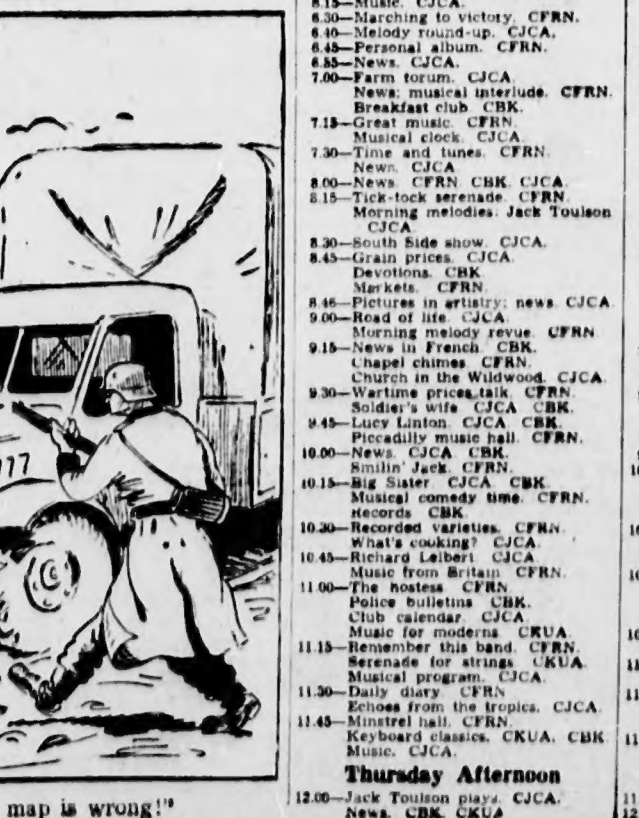

Approximately 40 members of the armed guards of the two ships also were believed missing and the war shipping administration listed 70 merchant seamen as missing.

Saskatoon Bishop To Be Enthroned
SASKATOON, July 19.—(CP)—Enthronement and installation of Bishop Philip F. Pocock, as bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Saskatoon, will take place here Wednesday. The bishop arrived here yesterday. A public reception is planned for Wednesday evening when Bishop Pocock will reply to speeches by Mayor Angus MacPherson, Dr. J. S. Thomson, president of the University of Saskatchewan, Archbishop J. H. MacDonald of Edmonton.

Candidate Resigns From Civil Service

H. D. Carrigan, nominated Saturday night as one of five Social Credit candidates for Edmonton constituency, has resigned from the Alberta civil service, it was learned Wednesday. His last government post was secretary of the post-war reconstruction committee. He was also secretary of the special commission enquiring into the liquor and beer situation in the province. Mr. Carrigan joined the civil service soon after the Social Credit government came into power. Prior to that, he operated newspapers at Coronation and Waskatenau.

After a short time with the department of municipal affairs, he was posted to the government publicity and travel bureau in 1938, where he stayed until named to the secretaryship of the post-war committee.

Public Control Of Resources Is Aim of C.C.F.

Oil projects in Alberta will provide the means to raise the money to pay for free hospitalization, for mothers' and old age pensions under a C.C.F. government, J. E. Enright, C.C.F. candidate in the provincial general election on Aug. 8 told a meeting of 80 persons at Alberta avenue community hall Tuesday night.

The people must have control of the things which they live—their services financial, transportation, textiles and farm machinery; public ownership should be extended to oil, gas, coal, timber and all other natural resources; there should be public ownership, municipally and social ownership, co-operatively. These were the things the C.C.F. believed in, and would propose, he said.

PROFITS GOING EAST

The speaker averred that, municipally, profits were going to Eastern Canada, instead of to the citizens of Edmonton.

J. H. Dowler, also a C.C.F. candidate in the forthcoming election, said he had no desire to become a public figure, but he was looking forward to the time—not far distant—when the war would end and thousands of men and women would be returning home.

He wanted to know that something would be done about the post-war era, as he, himself, had served in the First Great War. The government, then, he said, had but one idea, to get rid of the men as quickly as possible. Men coming back from this war would get no better treatment.

"It is private ownership that causes insecurity; private ownership is the root of this war," he declared. The answer, he added, was public ownership.

SURPLUS CREATED

Some people get the big bulk of the money, he continued, but they cannot consume all the goods their money will buy, and a surplus of wealth is created.

There was a chance, half a century ago, for individual enterprise. But, small enterprise cannot compete with the big corporations of today; and there is no market the latter cannot take from them if they wanted to.

The speaker, who said he understood the workings of labor unions, declared that in self-defense, trade unions have to make alliances with other unions, in order to protect each other from the present system.

"We can have no economic power so long as we have unemployment," he declared, adding that, with an army of unemployed after the war, people will be willing to work for less money than is being paid today.

He urged his listeners to use the C.C.F. as their economic army in order to attain their ends.

Arthur Curman, acting as chairman and introduced to the gathering Jack Dennistoun and Joseph Cherrington, the latter being C.C.F. manager East Edmonton area.

Alderman H. D. Ainlay, president, Alberta branch C.C.F., who had been slated to speak, was unable to attend the meeting.

The meeting was preceded by community singing, with Mae Dennistoun as pianist. A short dance followed the addresses.

12-Year-Old Boy, Auto, Are Missing

An auto taken from its parking place at a service station at Stony Plain road and 142 street, was believed to have been driven away by his 12-year-old son, who is also missing, A. L. Courtois, 90 avenue at 146 street, informed city police Tuesday.

The car, a 1927 sedan, bearing license No. 92-862, disappeared between 2 p.m. Monday and 1:30 a.m. Tuesday. The young lad had learned to drive the vehicle, the father told officers.

Chicago Futures Easier at Close

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP)—Grain futures eased back to near yesterday's close in late trading today after having held firm in strong through most of the session.

Rye, after advancing more than a cent, dropped when local traders of cent early bought futures and found the market limited. Hedging pressure in the wheat pit reflected heavy receipts of grain at southwestern markets and lower prices at Kansas City.

Wheat closed 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, oats were unchanged to 1/4 higher, barley was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, rye was up 1/4 to 1/2.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—Stocks advanced fractions to around a point today under leadership of rails and specialties. Buying was mainly of a quiet sort but it broadened a bit in the late dealings under the influence of good war news and an apparent easing of the selling movement of Monday and Tuesday.
